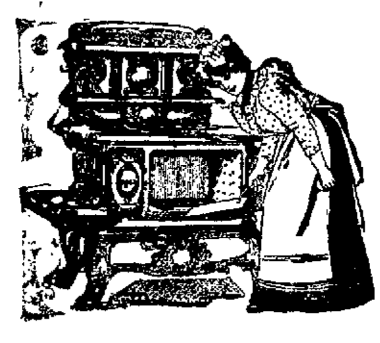
THIS THE RANGE THAT DID IT.

One bundle of wood one filling of coal and in less than 30 minutes after the fire was started the thermometer in the oven registered 410 degrees. No knowing how much hotter it was, for that was as high as the thermometer would go. Biscuit for breakfast? Sure—20 minutes after the fire's started.



A CRAWFORD
NO OTHER COULD.

Range can boast of such a performance. The reason's plain—a Crawford wastes no heat, but carries all the heat that's made direct to the oven. You haven't a Crawford? Then you don't know what easy cooking means. Half a hod of coal a day, the right oven at the right moment any time and all the time. You simply fix the damper and the range does the rest. Today's a bully time to christen one.

JUVENILE COURT ACT FOR WHOLE STATE.

Would Take Under Control All Children Up to 17 Years

Bill Instituted in House for a Recreation Board in Newport.

[Special despatch to the News]

PROVIDENCE, Jan 21.—The feature in the legislature today was the introduction of a juvenile court act by Senator Beeckman, which provides for the entire state and not alone Providence, as did a previous one of the present session. Mr. Sullivan of Newport introduced an act calling for a recreation board for that city.

Senator Beeckman's act establishing a juvenile court for delinquent and wayward children, removes from the usual criminal procedure all under the age of 16 years and places the state in control of children up to 17 years who are incorrigible or habitually disobedient to parents or are forming bad habits. There shall be a juvenile section to every district court and the records of this shall be kept separate from the other records. Provisions are made which will prevent proceeding against children by warrant or indictment, as in adult cases, until the character of the child has been investigated by the court. At no time shall such juveniles be kept in jails or lock-ups, or allowed to mingle with other prisoners, and they may be paroled under care of parents. Appeal may be taken from the juvenile to the superior court.

The act also provides that every city and town must provide a suitable place for the detention of juveniles, and that the law shall be given liberal construction so tat the custody and discipline shall approximate what should be given by parents. Juveniles are to be considered not criminal, but misguided children in need of encouragement.

Senator Beeckman explained that the act had been drawn as the result of watching the practice in the Sixth district court in Providence and Judge Hoyt's court in New York. It went to the judiciary committee.

FIVE ANTI-TRUST BILLS IN CONGRESS.

Will Carry Out Suggestions of Wilson's Message.

Revision of Tentative Drafts of Acts Already Prepared Undertaken.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Five bills to carry out the suggestions of President Wilson's trust message were being completed in Congress today. The bills will embrace the following:

An interstate trade commission, with inquisitorial powers into corporations and authority to aid the courts and keep big business within the law.

Prohibition of inter-locking directorates in interstate corporations, railroads and national banks.

Empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate the issuance of railroad stocks and bonds.

A Sherman law definition bill which would define specifically what constitutes conspiracy in restraint of trade.

A general trade relations measure seeking to eliminate "cut throat" competition in business, and which would provide punishment for individuals injured by unlawful business restraint to avail themselves of findings against combinations and institute suits in equity for relief.

Following a conference last night at the White House, members of the House judiciary and Senate Interstate Commerce Commission went to the Capitol today, with the program as outlined in mind, and revision of tentative drafts of measures already prepared was undertaken.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the committee which will have charge of the legislation in the Senate, and Chairman Clayton and Representatives Carlin and Floyd of the House judiciary committee on trust legislation were in conference with the President.

Representative Adamson, chairman of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce, which will have jurisdiction over the bills relating to government supervision of railroad securities and interstate trade commission, expects to confer with the President today or tomorrow. There is already pending before his committee a railroad securities bill drawn by himself, which will form the basis for the administration measure. A trade relations bill drafted by the judiciary sub-committee and Senator Newlands, and shown to the President last night, may be introduced by Senator Newlands and, with other measures pending, turned over to the Adamson committee to aid in its work.

A meeting of the entire membership of the judiciary committee has been called for tomorrow, when bills relating to trust subjects will be reviewed and probably will be introduced the following day.

Senator Newlands had another conference today with the President.

Rear Admiral Watt Says Future Ships Will Have Deeper Drafts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—"Ships we are going to build in the future will have even deeper drafts than 30 feet, and the depth of prominent harbors in the United States should be at least 35 feet," said Rear Admiral Watt, chief of the naval bureau of construction and repair, in a statement to the House naval affairs committee made public today.

Admiral Watt was advocating a provision in the naval appropriation bill, which the committee soon will report to the House, to authorize a contract for use by the navy of private dry docks at Hunter's Point, San Francisco, where, if the proposed contract is executed a new basin will be built capable of docking the largest vessel that can be passed through the Panama canal locks. Construction of this dock would be undertaken and completed within 24 months. Admiral Watt urged that this action was imperative.

"With the opening of the Panama canal,' he explained, "it is probable that our principal fleet will have periods of duty on the west coast. This provision would permit the docking of the largest ships at Hunter's Point instead of sending them to Seattle, 900 miles further north. We cannot get the battleships to the Mare Island navy yard, and, even though the channel were deepened to send them to the yard, the present docks there would not take 10 of the last vessels of the fleet.'

The admiral also told the committee that there were not enough dry docks for practical purposes on the Atlantic coast. "It would be unwise," he added, "to start the construction of any large dock that would not take any vessel that could pass through the Panama canal locks. The canal locks do not fix the ultimate limit of the size of ships. but it is the limit for a long time to come and the limit of transportation from one ocean to the other."

SMITH JURY OUT SINCE 11 O'CLOCK.

No Further Instructions Asked and Still Without Verdict.

Judge Sweeney's Charge Defines Murder and Manslaughter.

(Special despatch to the News)

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—The jury in the case of Charles B. Smith, charged with the killing of William P. Eagan at Easton's beach, Newport on the evening of July 4 last, is still out. It retired shortly after 11 o'clock and at 3 was still in the jury room nothing having been heard up to that hour. The jury had asked for no further instructions in the case and was still deliberating on a verdict after four hours of consultation.

Judge Sweeney began his charge at the opening of the court, speaking more than an hour. He gave a clear and exhaustive review of the law in its various aspects connected with the case, and defined in distinct terms the difference between murder and manslaughter. Although he made no statement to that effect, there was a feeling about the court room that he was strongly inclined toward manslaughter.

SOLD TO SUMMER RESIDENTS.

Graves Point Fishing Club Incorporated by Secretary of State.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—The Graves Point Fishing Club of Newport was incorporated by the secretary of state this morning. The incorporators are R. Livingston Beeckman, Stuyvesant LeRoy, Henry F. Eldridge, Lispenard Stewart, Whitney Warren, T. Suffern Tailer, William Woodward and Cornelius Vanderbilt. The objects of the club as stated in the articles are scientific and social.

The late J. Pierpont Morgan owned Graves Point on Ocean avenue and maintained there a private fishing club, where he stopped on his visits to Newport during the summer. After his death the property was sold, but no announcement was made to whom it had been transferred. Monday a copy of the will of Mr. Morgan was filed in the probate court, to enable a legal transfer to be made. The club incorporated today comprises the purchasers. The incorporators are all well known summer residents, prominent in the social and sporting life of the city in summer. The club will probably be used mainly as a place for fishing.

LIABLE UNDER LAW.

But Governor of Missouri Could Not Return Chaquet Here.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—Governor Pothier has received a letter from the governor of Missouri in relation to the requisition made by Rhode Island on that state for the return of George L. Chaquet, charged with deserting his wife in Newport in 1903. After reciting the facts presented, the governor of Missouri says Chaquet received a divorce in St. Louis in 1905, in 1906 married Mary G. Brown of St. Louis, and has since resided there and owns a house. There has been no concealment of facts, and under the law he could do nothing other than refuse to honor the requisition. He suggests, however, that in his opinion Chaquet is liable from both a civil and a criminal point of view for the support of his minor children in Newport and that suitable action brought in St. Louis for such support would be legal.

CAPTAIN AND CREW SAVED.

Schooner General Adelbert Ames Wrecked Off Monomoy Point.

CHATHAM, Mass., Jan. 21.—New York schooner General Adelbert Ames was wrecked off Monomoy Point early today. Captain Hart and the seven men in his crew were brought safely to shore in the breeches buoy, manned by the life saving crews from the Monomoy and Monomoy Point stations.

The schooner, laden with laths from St. John, New Brunswick, for Philadelphia, struck at 2 a. m. on Bearse's shoal and later slid over into the rip north of the Shovelful lightship and about 200 yards off shore.

ULTIMATUM ISSUED.

Signing of Players Already Under Contract With Federals Will be Fought

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—The Federal League today notified the powers of organized base ball that their signing of players already under contract with the Federals will be fought in and out of the civil courts. This ultimatum was in the form of a telegram which President Gilmore of the Federals sent to President Baker of the Philadelphia Nationals, declaring that he would "protest" the contracts signed by Ad. Brennan and Will Killifer.

MOVING THE DUNN HOUSE.

The Dunn house, which stood on Long wharf where the Armour building now is, and was moved back to make way for the new structure and, has since been in the way near the Adams Express building. Tuesday "got a move on" and moved to the Basin lot. Before it arrived there, however, there was a good deal of work by linemen to clear the aerial for the moving building. It has been decided to move it through the Basin lot, as it will there be less in the way. It is finally going to rest in the Barker lot on Elm street, now owned by Max David.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—The jury in the case of Charles R. Smith, charged with the killing of William P. Eagan at Easton's beach, Newport on the evening of July 4 last, is still out. It retired shortly after 11 o'clock and at 3 was still in the jury room nothing having been heard up to that hour. The jury had asked for no further instructions in the case and was still deliberating on a verdict after four hours of consultation.

Judge Sweeney began his charge at the opening of the court, speaking more than an hour. He gave a clear and exhaustive review of the law in its various aspects connected with the case, and defined in distinct terms the difference between murder and manslaughter. Although he made no statement to that effect, there was a feeling about the court room that he was strongly inclined toward manslaughter.

SOLD TO SUMMER RESIDENTS.

Graves Point Fishing Club Incorporated by Secretary of State.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—The Graves Point Fishing Club of Newport was incorporated by the secretary of state this morning. The incorporators are R. Livingston Beeckman, Stuyvesant LeRoy, Henry F. Eldridge, Lispenard Stewart, Whitney Warren, T. Suffern Tailer, William Woodward and Cornelius Vanderbilt. The objects of the club as stated in the articles are scientific and social.

The late J. Pierpont Morgan owned Graves Point on Ocean avenue and maintained there a private fishing club, where he stopped on his visits to Newport during the summer. After his death the property was sold, but no announcement was made to whom it had been transferred. Monday a copy of the will of Mr. Morgan was filed in the probate court, to enable a legal transfer to be made. The club incorporated today comprises the purchasers. The incorporators are all well known summer residents, prominent in the social and sporting life of the city in summer. The club will probably be used mainly as a place for fishing.

LIABLE UNDER LAW.

But Governor of Missouri Could Not Return Chaquet Here.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21.—Governor Pothier has received a letter from the governor of Missouri in relation to the requisition made by Rhode Island on that state for the return of George L. Chaquet, charged with deserting his wife in Newport in 1903. After reciting the facts presented, the governor of Missouri says Chaquet received a divorce in St. Louis in 1905, in 1906 married Mary G. Brown of St. Louis, and has since resided there and owns a house. There has been no concealment of facts, and under the law he could do nothing other than refuse to honor the requisition. He suggests, however, that in his opinion Chaquet is liable from both a civil and a criminal point of view for the support of his minor children in Newport and that suitable action brought in St. Louis for such support would be legal.

CAPTAIN AND CREW SAVED.

Schooner General Adelbert Ames Wrecked Off Monomoy Point.

CHATHAM, Mass., Jan. 21.—New York schooner General Adelbert Ames was wrecked off Monomoy Point early today. Captain Hart and the seven men in his crew were brought safely to shore in the breeches buoy, manned by the life saving crews from the Monomoy and Monomoy Point stations.

The schooner, laden with laths from St. John, New Brunswick, for Philadelphia, struck at 2 a. m. on Bearse's shoal and later slid over into the rip north of the Shovelful lightship and about 200 yards off shore.

ULTIMATUM ISSUED.

Signing of Players Already Under Contract With Federals Will be Fought

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—The Federal League today notified the powers of organized base ball that their signing of players already under contract with the Federals will be fought in and out of the civil courts. This ultimatum was in the form of a telegram which President Gilmore of the Federals sent to President Baker of the Philadelphia Nationals, declaring that he would "protest" the contracts signed by Ad. Brennan and Will Killifer.

MOVING THE DUNN HOUSE.

The Dunn house, which stood on Long wharf where the Armour building now is, and was moved back to make way for the new structure and has since been in the way near the Adams Express building, Tuesday "got a move on" and moved to the Basin lot. Before it arrived there, however, there was a good deal of work by linemen to clear the aerial for the moving building. It has been decided to move it through the Basin lot, as it will there be less in the way. It is finally going to rest in the Barker lot on Elm street, now owned by Max David.

BOARD OF TRADE ACTIVITIES.

charter has done good work. The progress from bad to worse under the previous charter is still in our minds. It is appalling to think of what our financial condition today would have been if the new charter had not been brought to the rescue.

In every year the work of the Committee of Twenty-Five has been done laboriously and faithfully. The budget has been carefully made up, the appropriations have been well distributed, there have been no overdrafts and there has been no inordinate growth in the city's debt. Such bond issues as have been made have been well considered, and put in the most advantageous serial form. The city's sinking funds have been re-invested so as to add to their security and productiveness.

Under the present charter knowledge of city affairs has been extended among hundreds of men who otherwise would have remained largely ignorant. This knowledge has led to interest and a willingness to take office and have a voice in the city's concerns which are really the concerns of all in the city.

In the main the Representative Council has transacted its business capably and well. Its records through the seven years show as little of error, failure and wilful going astray as could be expected of any democratic legislative body.

Your committee have taken cognizance of the introduction into the General Assembly of proposed legislation which if passed would take away from the city government a large portion of those essential features in the present charter which have made it effective for good. In the minds of your committee the passage of the amendments or substitution proposed would be a long step backward toward setting up again the old order of things from which the new charter has permitted us in large part to escape.

Your committee therefore respectfully report that in their judgment it is inadvisable to undertake at this time any material modification of the existing charter. Especially would they deprecate the adoption of the act now before the Assembly. They believe its provisions to be not for the best interests of the city.

Your committee further recommend that the Board of Trade take such action in the matter as it feels that it consistently can take to oppose the enactment of the proposed amendments and that it at once request of the General Assembly that it grant public hearings upon the proposed act.

Respectfully submitted and signed

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the report of the charter committee be approved and that the board of directors be instructed to co-operate with other civic organizations and the people for the holding of public hearings and meetings to protest against the amendments to the charter recently introduced in the General Assembly.

The committee on membership reported a long list of names for election. A printed ballot had been mailed to each member having on it the name of each applicant with a place to be checked. It being apparent that some of the applicants would not be elected even with the committee's recommendation an attempt was made to withdraw the names, but the privilege was denied and eleven fell by the wayside. The elected were as follows:

WHY STARS SHOOT.

Friction of the Air on Swiftly Moving Particles Gives Strange Appearance.

[St. Nicholas.]

A so-called shooting star is merely a cold little meteor which is moving around the sun in its own path just as the immensely larger comets and planets are doing. On the average these particles are moving about 26 miles a second when they are at the distance from the sun that the earth is, and as the earth itself is moving eighteen and one-half miles a second the two bodies are sure to collide with each other with a high velocity. If the earth runs into the particle in such a way as to overtake it it will strike our air with a speed of only about eight miles a second. If they meet head on, so to speak, they will come together with a speed of 44 miles a second. In either case the friction of the air on the cold particle as this plows through the air instantly heats it up to a heat so great that it is vaporized and appears to us as a shooting star.

The reason why the little meteoric particles are moving so swiftly in the first place is simply because they are falling toward the sun. Every world and sun attracts everything near it by virtue of the wonderful force known as gravitation. You weigh because the great earth is pulling you toward itself, and when you drop a stone from your hand it falls because the earth is pulling upon it. If you could carry the stone many millions of miles away from the earth and there let it drop it would begin to fall toward the earth very slowly, but as it fell it would continually move faster and faster until when it finally struck the earth it would be moving no less than seven miles in every second. Now in exactly the same way each of the little meteoric particles away off in space began long ago to feel the pull of gravitation of our sun and to fall toward it, and if the meteorite and the sun had both been at rest at first the meteorite would have fallen into our sun, but as our sun is moving through space at the rate of 11 miles in each second the meteorite will not hit it exactly, but will miss it and begin to swing around in a curved path. As the sun is so much larger than the earth its pull is very much greater.

If you could visit the sun you would find when there that you weighed more than 27 times as much as you weigh on the earth, that is, the sun would pull down 27 times as hard as the earth does. If you weigh 100 pounds here, you would weigh 2,700 pounds there and be crushed by your own weight. This great pull of the sun on each of the meteorites makes them fall very swiftly indeed. It is because the pull is so strong that when they have fallen toward the sun to the place where the earth is we find them moving some 26 miles in a single second.

STEAMBOATS THAT TRAVEL ON LAND

[Wide World Magazine.]

The unsophisticated visitor to the lumber districts of Canada may occasionally see what is to him a very remarkable sight—a primitive looking steamboat high and dry on a road crawling along quite comfortably, apparently just as much at home as in its natural element. These boats are known as "alligators" and are used for towing the rafts of logs down the rivers and lakes to the mills. Sometimes it is desired to transfer one of these craft to a new sphere of operations which can only be reached overland, and the boat is then hauled out of the water, placed upon rollers and travels to its destination by means of its own power.

WOMEN OF ROME TO DSICOURAGE TANGO.

A majority of the women of Rome aristocracy have decided to conform to instructions issued by Cardinal Basilio Pompili, Vicar General of Rome, and banish the tango from their salons and otherwise discourage the dance. Cardinal Pompili, representing Pope Pius, in a pastoral letter denounced the tango and declared that it must be absolutely prohibited in the seat of the Roman Pontiff.

FOR GRAND ARMY FLAG DAY

Commissioner Ranger Gives "Veterans of Peace" as Theme, with Programs.

Commissioner Walter E Ranger of the public schools of Rhode Island has sent out his thirteenth annual program for patriotic exercises Grand Army Flag day, February 12, in honor of the national flag, the Grand Army of the Republic and the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The commissioner's message is as follows:

To the Boys and Girls of Rhode Island:

Again comes Flag day, but it is a new day for you. Though you sing old songs, speak old pieces and salute the dear old flag, you keep, in a new year, a new day of school patriotism with new affection for the flag, with new honor for our country's [illegible], new lessons of citizenship and with new lessons learned from the life of Abraham Lincoln. Though you have observed the school's annual Flag day since you first came to school, it is all made new each year by the freshness of your growing lives with new thoughts and ideals, their new courage and endeavor, their new faiths and loyalties.

It is now nearly 50 years since the end of the civil war but still lives in our country's memory of its sacrifices and sufferings, and ever made new in the hearts of our children and youth is the honor due the patriots of that time. Still on Memorial day are flowers placed on soldiers' graves in grateful memory of their service to their country and on Flag day the children of our schools present their offerings of reverent honor for those who have died for their country and their tributes of respect to Union veterans who still live for their country.

In a contrast to veterans we think first of their service as soldiers in war, but we need to know that their services as citizens in peace have been no less patriotic. For our Flag day exercises of this year then let their service of 50 years of peace be fittingly remembered as well as their service of four years of war. For this purpose "Veterans of Peace" has been chosen as a special theme for this year and the program offers examples and sentiments to show that the patriot in war is a patriot in peace and to teach the truth that he who lives [illegible] for his country is always [illegible].

May the boys and girls of Rhode Island be quickened anew this year [illegible] heroic deeds and patriotic lives of their fathers. So long as [illegible] shall flash [illegible] light or [illegible] lips shall [illegible] long as youthful [illegible] Lincoln [illegible] name and fame [illegible] long as youthful hearts shall kindle [illegible] brave deeds our country will not lack patriots."

The pamphlet contains suggestive programs for the observance of the day, appropriate songs, exercises, selections for reading in prose and verse and several longer articles. One of these is entitled "Our Veterans of Peace" with contributions by the superintendents of the public schools of the various cities and towns of the state on the [illegible] Rhode Island Veterans in Civil Life, with sketches and portraits of Ambrose E Burnside, governor and United States Senator; Nelson W Aldrich, United States senator; Adin B Capron, Oscar Lapham, Charles H Page and Henry J Spooner, Representatives in Congress; Pardon E Tillinghast, John H Stiness and William W Douglas, chief justices of the Supreme Court of the United States; George A Wilbur and Horatio Rogers, associate justices, and Albert [illegible] Howard, Henry T Sisson, Edwin R Allen and Samuel R Honey, lieutenant governors of the state.

R F D No 1, No Waterford Me.—"I had dandruff in my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried ——— and a number of other tonics and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples up I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Luella Lord, May 10, 1913.

SHIELD A GRANGE TROPHY.

Public Installation of Officers at Interesting Meeting of Pomona.

Newport County Pomona Grange opened the new year by an unusually interesting meeting held at Fair hall Tuesday, which was well attended. Worthy Master Mrs. Helen A. Wilcox of Tiverton presided. Excellent reports were given by delegates from the six local Granges. The county secretary's report gave the present membership as 92.

Mr. Jesse Durfee and Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham reported as a committee upon the proposed trophy to be purchased, Mrs. Peckham showing a number of catalogues and also special design sheets of shields. The matter was extensively discussed, a sum of money voted, and a shield decided upon, the first idea of the cup or statue being abandoned. Mr. I. Lincoln Sherman, the third member of the committee, was absent. The trophy will be awarded at the end of the year to the local Grange in Newport county securing the largest increase in membership during the year, the Grange so winning the prize to hold the trophy as long as it can maintain its yearly record of increase.

The following invitations for places of meeting for the year were received and accepted: Nanaquaket Grange, February; Tiverton, March; Middletown, April; Jamestown, May; Little Compton, October; Portsmouth, December. The meetings for the intervening months, except August and September, will be held at Fair hall.

At 12:30 adjournment was had to the dining room, where an oyster stew, with rolls, coffee, cake, and doughnuts, was served by Mrs. Joseph A. Peckham, assisted by Mrs. B. W. H. Peckham, Miss Eliza M. Peckham and Mrs. May Chase Spooner, all of Aquidneck Grange.

At 2 o'clock a public installation was held, Mrs. Edmund Spooner of Exeter Grange, East Greenwich, conducting the service in a creditable manner. She was assisted by her husband and by the State Grange secretary, Mrs. Harold R. Chase. The exercises opened with the "Installation Ode" and during the seating of the chaplain the Grange sang "Nearer my God to Thee." Mrs. Walter Soule acted as pianist. The following officers took their seats:

Worthy Master—Mrs. Helen A. Wilcox of Tiverton (second term of two years).

Overseer—George L. Simmons of Little Compton (second term).

Lecturer—Mrs. Arthur Sherman of Portsmouth.

Steward—William H. Potter of Tiverton.

Assistant Steward—Walter Soule of Portsmouth.

Chaplain—Mrs. Elisha Clarke Peckham of Middletown (third term).

Treasurer—William S. Slocum of Middletown.

Secretary—Clover L. Hambly of Tiverton (second term).

Ceres—Mrs. May Chase Spooner of Middletown.

Pomona—Mrs. Fred Armbrust of Jamestown.

Lady Assistant Steward—Mrs. William T. Wood of Stone Bridge, Nanaquaket Grange.

Two officers-elect were absent—Flora, Miss Lottie Manchester of Tiverton, and Gate Keeper, T. Giles Carr of Jamestown—and these will be installed at the February meeting.

Past Master Warren R. Sherman presided during the exercises preceding the installation.

The new lecturer, Mrs. Sherman, presented a pleasing program at the close of the installation, as follows: Piano selection, "Irma Mazouka," Mrs. Walter Soule; humorous reading, "An Enquiring Yankee," Mrs. William K. Boyd; two vocal numbers, "My Rosary," Nevins, and "A Scotch Ballad," Jules Jordan, Mrs. Hilda Neil Brinnell, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Wilcox Almy; verse selection, "My Cat and I," Mrs William M. Hughes; two piano selections, "Evening Chimes" and "Red Pepper," Edna Malone; humorous recitation and impersonation, "The Deaf Old Lady at the Restaurant," Miss Ruth Wilkey, who gave as an encore "The Bewildered Professor"; two vocal numbers, "When Shadows Gather" and "Gray Days," Miss Malone. The numbers were generally applauded.

During the closing business session the matter of continuing the meetings into the evening and possibly omitting the morning session, was vigorously debated. It was suggested that many would like to unite with the Pomona Grange but were unable to do so because of its all-day sessions. The subject was left to be settled at the February meeting, as it would require a change in the present by-laws.

Mrs. Sherman announced as the February lecturer's hour "A Washington Party;" special subjects, "A comparison of the farming conditions of the days of Washington with those of the present," Mr. I. Lincoln Sherman, and "The housekeeping methods of the Washingtonian Period" Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham.

TENNESSEE'S NEW ANTI-NARCOTIC LAW.

What is declared by the Pharmaceutical Era to be the most stringent anti-narcotic law in the union went into effect in Tennessee January 1. It has been drafted to stop the indiscriminate sale of habit-forming and narcotic drugs and provides that no such drugs or their derivatives shall be sold except on the prescription of a reputable physician, and that the order must be filled on the day of its issuance. Druggists are also required to keep a record of all sales. A section of the law, which forbids druggists to keep on hand more than five ounces of morphine, is attacked as unconstitutional. A section of the bill forbids the sale of medicines—except for external use—when they contain more than a specified amount of any narcotic; in the case of morphine one fourth of a grain to the ounce (av.). In order to check the sale of morphine by itinerant peddlers the possession of any of the narcotics named or their derivatives is held prima facie evidence of the violation of the law.

FIRELIGHT.

[David DeMay Farnsworth.]

I love to sit by the embers
As they sparkle, and fade, and creep,
While Twilight gathers her children
And tucks them away to sleep.

When the noises of Day are softened
To a soothing, mellow croon,
Ere the reign of Night is ushered
By her herald, the weird faced moon

There's a magic balm in the gloaming
For the day-racked weary brain,
And my care-freed fancy wanders
In the paths afar from pain.

The visions and dreams of boyhood
Pass before me clear and bright,
In the changing coals and ashes,
As twilight fades into night.

The pillar of fire before me
Takes a deeper and stronger glow;
Calling me onward and upward
As it did in the long ago;

And I know that my heart grows younger,
That my soul climbs nearer Truth.
For these twilight-hour communings
With the things of my vanished youth.

So I love to sit by the embers
As they sparkle, and fade, and creep,
While Twilight gathers her children
And tucks them away to sleep.

A DANGEROUS CHALLENGER.

The Shamrock IV Being Built Along Lines of Latest Yacht Architecture.

Although much secrecy surrounds the building of the Shamrock IV, American yachtsmen with English connections are securing information which indicates that Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger will be the last word in European yacht building. Designer Charles Nicholson appears to have broken the shackles of English tradition and conservatism, with the result that there is building at Gosport a 75-foot racing craft embodying so many radical departures from the conventional type that the average English gentleman skipper is aghast

While neither Sir Thomas nor Nicholson will affirm or deny the reports relative to the structural details, it is generally accepted both here and abroad that the Shamrock IV will prove a most formidable challenger when ready for the starting gun in the first race of the international regatta September 1

It is known that Sir Thomas laid the result of his observations and experience in his previous attempts to lift the America's cup before Nicholson and it was decided that, in order to win, it would be necessary to build along lines of the latest yacht architecture regardless of the general attitude of English yachtsmen toward the various innovations.

That this policy is being carried out to the letter is apparent from the occasional fragments of information that emanate from Gosport despite the rigid rule of secrecy. When pieced together they would appear to indicate that the Shamrock IV will be of abnormal type with a lead keel of approximately 60 tons extraordinary overhang, centreboard and tremendous spread of canvas.

The mast, which may or may not be of "Marconi" type, will be the longest ever stepped in a challenger, length of water line considered and capable of carrying many thousand square feet of sail area. The yacht will be launched early in April and will be in racing trim by May.

With W. P. Burton in charge and Captain Gould as skipper, a series of preliminary trials will be sailed against the present Shamrock off the coast of Devonshire.

He Who Runs May Not Read

MANY a merchant has been too busy wondering what the parcel post was going to do for his competitor, the mail order house, to consider that it might have in it some good for himself. Yet instead of being a bugbear, threatening destructive competition, the parcel post in actuality broadens tremendously the smaller merchant's field of trade possibilities. It enables him to deal with every person within fifty miles of his place of business at a lower postal rate and much more expeditiously than any concern outside his district can. The moral is obvious.

BOARD OF TRADE ACTIVITIES.

charter has done good work. The progress from bad to worse under the previous charter is still in our minds. It is appalling to think of what our financial condition today would have been if the new charter had not been brought to the rescue.

In every year the work of the Committee of Twenty-Five has been done laboriously and faithfully. The budget has been carefully made up, the appropriations have been well distributed, there have been no overdrafts, and there has been no inadvertent growth in the city's debt. Such bond issues as have been made have been well considered, and put in the most advantageous serial form. The city's sinking funds have been re-invested so as to add to their security and productiveness.

Under the present charter knowledge of city affairs has been extended among hundreds of men who otherwise would have remained largely ignorant. This knowledge has led to interest and a willingness to take office and have a voice in the city's concerns which are really the concerns of all in the city.

In the main the Representative Council has transacted its business capably and well. Its records through the seven years show as little of error, failure and wilful going astray as could be expected of any democratic legislative body.

Your committee have taken cognizance of the introduction into the General Assembly of proposed legislation which if passed would take away from the city government a large portion of those essential features in the present charter which have made it effective for good. In the minds of your committee the passage of the amendments or substitution proposed would be a long step backward toward setting up again the old order of things from which the new charter has permitted us in large part to escape.

Your committee therefore respectfully report that in their judgment it is inadvisable to undertake at this time any material modification of the existing charter. Especially would they deprecate the adoption of the act now before the Assembly. They believe its provisions to be not for the best interests of the city.

Your committee further recommend that the Board of Trade take such action in the matter as it feels that it consistently can take to oppose the enactment of the proposed amendments and that it at once request of the General Assembly that it grant public hearings upon the proposed act.

Respectfully submitted and signed,
Charles A. Brackett,
A. K. Quinn,
T. T. Pitman,
John C. Burke,
Clark Burdick,
Committee.

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the report of the charter committee be approved, and that the board of directors be instructed to co-operate with other civic organizations and the people for the holding of public hearings and meetings to protest against the amendments to the charter recently introduced in the General Assembly.

The committee on membership reported a long list of names for election. A printed ballot had been mailed to each member, having on it the name of each applicant with a place to be checked. It being apparent that some of the applicants would not be elected even with the committee's recommendation, an attempt was made to withdraw the names, but this privilege was denied and eleven fell by the wayside. The elected were as follows:

Manson B. Atwater, Harry Aaron, Edwin O. Andrews, T. J. Biesel, Robert G. Biesel, Archie Barker, Horace F. Beck, Warren T. Berry, George E. Bailey, John C. Burke, George F. Cozzens, William J. Carr, Charles M. Cole, J. Henry Cremin, George H. Chase, Frank D. Collins, Joseph Dolson, Rufus E. Darrah, James A. Eddy, Gardiner C. Easton, James P. Fagan, Joseph A. Foy, Charles C. Gardner, William R. Hunter, William P. Hayman, E. S. Holmes, Frank H. Heald, Julius S. Kahler, James T. Kaull, William H. Lawton, Albert C. Landers, Jr., J. T. Lewis, Arthur Lowy, Alfred Lundholm, Herbert W. Lull, Samuel W. Marsh, John K. McLennan, Neil McLennan, Frank S. McLennan, Alex. R. O'Hanley, Edward W. Openshaw, George G. Popple, Edmund W. Pardee, Morgan Parker, Charles S. Plummer, Frank A. Richardson, William S. Rogers, William B. Scott, Lawrence P. Sullivan, Henry St. Clair, Joseph P. Santos, Oliver Tisdall, William Thurston, Jr., Clifton B. Tallman, Charles H. Tisdall, William H. Tibbetts, William J. Walsh.

The committee on taxation and legislation reported in favor of the purchase of a pumper for the central part of the city; and it was voted to recommend such action to the Representative Council.

The committee on transportation reported progress on the matter of street car transfers and the selling of six tickets for a quarter, also on negotiations with the railroad for the restoring of the 7:13 train and the restoration of the 4:15. The latter called for a vote of approval of the board, this being demanded by the railroad, in which case it promised the change in March.

A "GO-TO-CHURCH" DAY.

More Popular Observance of Sunday Needed Among Present Generation.

[Boston Transcript.]

Though William H. Taft is no longer the head the nation, his views of life and duty still appear to command the respect of the American people. Some time ago he uttered a warning to the effect that unless there was a return to the old-fashioned custom of attending church there would be no [illegible] for the future of the institutions of the country. That admonition seems to have been somewhat widely accepted as the voice of a prophet. There has been a response that has probably surprised him quite as much as any one else. Far and near there has been started a movement for a "Go-to-Church" Sunday, and from the pulpit and through the press appeals are being made for a popular observance of it. The first Sunday in February is generally suggested as the date for making a trial of this awakening suggestion, though any other would do as well.

There was a time when persistent absence from church attendance would have incurred the wrath of both civil and spiritual authorities. When this strictness of discipline was relaxed it still remained more or less in the way to good standing in a community that the individual should [illegible] and support the visible and [illegible] means of grace. Within the last few years there has been a growing freedom in this respect, and men and women will maintain that they are respectable even if they do not respond when the church bell rings. It would be an excellent thing if the present generation would get back to the more reverent observances of their fathers and mothers.

WHY STARS SHOOT.

Friction of the Air on Swiftly Moving Particles Gives Strange Appearance.

[St. Nicholas.]

Each so-called shooting-star is merely a cold little meteor which is moving around the sun in its own path, just as the immensely larger comets and planets are doing. On the average these particles are moving about 26 miles a second when they are at the distance from the sun that the earth is, and, as the earth itself is moving eighteen and one-half miles a second, the two bodies are sure to collide with each other with a high velocity. If the earth runs into the particle in such a way as to overtake it, it will strike our air with a speed of only about eight miles a second; if they meet "head on," so to speak they may come together with a speed of 44 miles a second. In either case, the friction of the air on the cold particle, as this plows through the air, instantly heats it up to a heat so great that it is vaporized and appears to us as a shooting-star.

The reason why the little meteorite particles are moving so swiftly in the first place is simply because they are falling toward the sun. Every world and sun attracts everything near it by virtue of the wonderful force known as "gravitation." You "weigh" because the great earth is pulling you toward itself, and when you drop a stone from your hand it falls because the earth is pulling upon it. If you could carry the stone many millions of miles away from the earth and there let it drop, it would begin to fall toward the earth very slowly, but as it fell it would continually move faster and faster, until when it finally struck the earth, it would be moving no less than seven miles in each second. Now in exactly the same way each of the little meteoric particles away off in space began long ago to feel the pull, or "gravitation," of our sun, and to fall toward that body. If the meteorite and the sun had both been at rest at first, the meteorite would have simply fallen into our sun; but as our sun is moving through space at the rate of 11 miles in each second, the meteorite will not hit it exactly but will miss it and begin to swing around in a curved path. As the sun is so much larger than the earth, its pull is very much greater.

If you could visit the sun, you would find when there that you weighed more than 27 times as much as you weigh on the earth; that is the sun would pull down 27 times as hard as the earth does. If you weigh 100 pounds here, you would weigh 2,700 pounds there, and be crushed by your own weight. This great pull of the sun on each of the meteorites makes them fall very swiftly indeed; it is because the pull is so strong that when they have fallen toward the sun to the place where the earth is, we find them moving some 26 miles in a single second.

STEAMBOATS THAT TRAVEL ON LAND.

[Wide World Magazine.]

The unsophisticated visitor to the lumber districts of Canada may occasionally see what is to him a very remarkable sight, a primitive-looking steamboat high and dry on a road, crawling along quite comfortably, apparently just as much at home as in its natural element. These boats are known as "alligators," and are used for towing the rafts of logs down the rivers and lakes to the mills. Sometimes it is desired to transfer one of these craft to a new sphere of operations which can only be reached overland and the boat is then hauled out of the water, placed upon rollers, and travels to its destination by means of its own power.

FOR GRAND ARMY FLAG DAY

Commissioner Ranger Gives "Veterans of Peace" as Theme, with Programs.

Commissioner Walter E. Ranger of the public schools of Rhode Island has sent out his thirteenth annual program for patriotic exercises Grand Army Flag day, February 12, in honor of the national flag, the Grand Army of the Republic and the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The commissioner's message is as follows:

To the Boys and Girls of Rhode Island:

"Again comes Flag day, but it is a new day for you. Though you sing old songs, speak old pieces and salute the dear old flag, you keep, in a new year, a new day of school patriotism, with new affection for the flag, with new honor for our country's heroes and with new lessons of citizenship learned from the life of Abraham Lincoln. Though you have observed the school's annual Flag day since you first came to school, it is all made new each year by the freshness of your growing lives, with new thoughts and ideals, their new courage and endeavor, their new faiths and loyalties.

"It is now nearly 50 years since the end of the Civil war, but still fresh is our country's memory of its sacrifices and sufferings, and ever made new in the hearts of our children and youth is the honor due the patriots of that time. Still, on Memorial day are flowers placed on soldiers' graves in grateful memory of their service to their country, and on Flag day the children of our schools present their offerings of reverent honor for those who have lived for their country and their tributes of respect to Union veterans who still live for their country.

"In our homage to veterans we think first of their service as soldiers in war, but we need to know that their services as citizens in peace have been no less patriotic. For our Flag day exercises of this year, then, let their service of 50 years of peace be fittingly remembered, as well as their service of four years of war. For this purpose 'Veterans of Peace' has been chosen as a special theme for the day and the program offers examples and sentiments to show that the patriot in war is a patriot in peace, and to teach the truth that he who lives or dies for his country is always a patriot.

"May the lives of Rhode Island boys and girls be quickened anew this day by the heroic deeds and patriotic service of their fathers; yes, so long as youthful eyes shall flash at sight of the flag, so long as youthful lips shall speak the name and fame of Lincoln, so long as youthful hearts shall kindle at brave deeds our country will not lack patriots."

The pamphlet contains suggestive programs for the observance of the day, appropriate songs, exercises, selections for reading in prose and verse and several longer articles. One of these is entitled "Our Veterans in Peace," with contributions by the superintendents of the public schools of the various cities and towns of the state; another is "Rhode Island Veterans in Civil Life," with sketches and portraits of Ambrose E. Burnside, governor and United States Senator; Nelson W. Aldrich, United States Senator; Adin B. Capron, Oscar Lapham, Charles H. Page and Henry J. Spooner, Representatives in Congress; Pardon E. Tillinghast, John H. Stiness and William W. Douglas, chief justices of the Supreme Court of the United States; George A. Wilbur and Horatio Rogers, associate justices, and Albert C. Howard, Henry T. Head Itched and Burned All the Time. Rash Formed a Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Waterford, Me.—"I had dandruff in my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried —— and a number of other tonics and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples up I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Luella Lord, May 10, 1913.

BOARD OF TRADE ACTIVITIES.

charter has done good work. The progress from bad to worse under the previous charter is still in our minds. It is appalling to think of what our financial condition today would have been if the new charter had not been brought to the rescue.

In every year the work of the Committee of Twenty-Five has been done laboriously and faithfully. The budget has been carefully made up, the appropriations have been well distributed, there have been no overdrafts, and there has been no inadvertent growth in the city's debt. Such bond issues as have been made have been well considered, and put in the most advantageous serial form. The city's sinking funds have been re-invested so as to add to their security and productiveness.

Under the present charter knowledge of city affairs has been extended among hundreds of men who otherwise would have remained largely ignorant. This knowledge has led to interest and a willingness to take office and have a voice in the city's concerns which are really the concerns of all in the city.

In the main the Representative Council has transacted its business capably and well. Its records through the seven years show as little of error, failure and wilful going astray as could be expected of any democratic legislative body.

Your committee have taken cognizance of the introduction into the General Assembly of proposed legislation which if passed would take away from the city government a large portion of those essential features in the present charter which have made it effective for good. In the minds of your committee the passage of the amendments or substitution proposed would be a long step backward toward setting up again the old order of things from which the new charter has permitted us in large part to escape.

Your committee therefore respectfully report that in their judgment it is inadvisable to undertake at this time any material modification of the existing charter. Especially would they deprecate the adoption of the act now before the Assembly. They believe its provisions to be not for the best interests of the city.

Your committee further recommend that the Board of Trade take such action in the matter as it feels that it consistently can take to oppose the enactment of the proposed amendments and that it at once request of the General Assembly that it grant public hearings upon the proposed act.

Respectfully submitted and signed,
Charles A. Brackett,
A. K. Quinn,
T. T. Pitman,
John C. Burke,
Clark Burdick,
Committee.

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the report of the charter committee be approved, and that the board of directors be instructed to co-operate with other [illegible] organizations and the people for the holding of public hearings and meetings to protest against the amendments to the charter recently introduced in the General Assembly.

The committee on membership reported a long list of names for election. A printed ballot had been mailed to each member, having on it the name of each applicant, with a place to be checked. It being apparent that some of the applicants would not be elected even with the committee's recommendation, an attempt was made to withdraw the names, but this privilege was denied and eleven fell by the wayside. The elected were as follows:

[illegible] B. Atwater, Harry Aaron, [illegible] O. Andrews, T. J. Biesel, Robert G. Biesel, Archie Barker, Horace P. Beck, Warren T. Berry, George E. [illegible], John C. Burke, George F. Cozzens, William J. Carr, Charles M. [illegible], J. Henry Creagh, George H. [illegible], Frank L. Collins, Joseph Dol[illegible], Rufus E. Darrah, James A. Eddy, [illegible] P. Easton, James P. Fagan, [illegible] A. Foy, Charles C. Gardner, William R. Hunter, William P. Hayman, E. S. Holmes, Frank H. Heald, [illegible] S. Kahler, James T. Kaull, William H. Lawton, Albert C. Landers, Jr., J. T. Lewis, Arthur Lowy, [illegible] Lindholm, Herbert W. Lull, [illegible] W. Marsh, John K. McLennan, [illegible] McLennan, Frank S. McLennan, [illegible] R. O'Hanley, Edward W. [illegible]shaw, George G. Popple, Edward W. Pardee, Morgan Parker, [illegible] S. Plummer, Frank A. Richardson, William S. Rogers, William B. [illegible], Lawrence P. Sullivan, Henry [illegible], Joseph P. Santos, Oliver [illegible] Hill, William Thurston, Jr., Clifton [illegible] Tallman, Charles H. Tisdall, Walter H. Tibbetts, William J. Walsh.

The committee on taxation and [illegible] reported in favor of the [illegible] of a pumper for the central [illegible] the city; and it was voted to [illegible] such action to the Representative Council.

The committee on transportation [illegible] progress on the matter of [illegible] transfers and the selling of [illegible] for a quarter, also on negotiations with the railroad for the [illegible] of the 7.13 train and the [illegible] of the 4.15. The latter [illegible] a vote of approval of the [illegible] this being demanded by the [illegible] in which case it promised the [illegible] in March.

A "GO-TO-CHURCH" DAY.

More Popular Observance of Sunday Needed Among Present Generation.

[Boston Transcript.]

Though William H. Taft is no longer [illegible] head the nation, his views [illegible] still appear to command the respect of the American [illegible] [illegible] warning to [illegible] that unless there was a re[illegible] old-fashioned custom of church [illegible] the [illegible] of the institution [illegible]. That admonition [illegible] somewhat [illegible] as the voice of a [illegible] has been a response [illegible] has probably surprised him [illegible] any one else. [illegible] has been started [illegible] for a "Go-to-Church" [illegible] and from the pulpit and [illegible] the press appeals are being [illegible] a popular observance of it. The first Sunday in February is generally [illegible] as the date for this [illegible] of this awakening [illegible] [illegible] any other would [illegible]

[illegible] a time when persistent [illegible] from church attendance [illegible] spiritual [illegible]. When [illegible] of discipline was [illegible] remained more or less in good standing [illegible] that the individual should [illegible] support the visible and [illegible] means of grace. Within the [illegible] there has been a growing [illegible] freedom in this respect, and [illegible] women will maintain that they are respectable even if they do not respond when the church bell rings. It would be an excellent thing if the present generation would get back to the more reverent observances of their fathers and mothers.

WHY STARS SHOOT.

Friction of the Air on Swiftly Moving Particles Gives Strange Appearance.

[St. Nicholas.]

Each so-called shooting-star is merely a cold little meteor which is moving around the sun in its own path, just as the immensely larger comets and planets are doing. On the average these particles are moving about 26 miles a second when they are at the distance from the sun that the earth is, and as the earth itself is moving eighteen and one-half miles a second, the two bodies are sure to collide with each other with a high velocity. If the earth runs into the particle in such a way as to overtake it, it will strike our air with a speed of only about eight miles a second; if they meet "head on," so to speak, they may come together with a speed of 44 miles a second. In either case, the friction of the air on the cold particle, as this plows through the air, instantly heats it up to a heat so great that it is vaporized and appears to us as a shooting-star.

The reason why the little meteoric particles are moving so swiftly in the first place is simply because they are falling toward the sun. Every world and sun attracts everything near it by virtue of the wonderful force known as "gravitation." You "weigh" because the great earth is pulling you toward itself, and when you drop a stone from your hand it falls because the earth is pulling upon it. If you could carry the stone many millions of miles away from the earth and there let it drop, it would begin to fall toward the earth very slowly, but as it fell it would continually move faster and faster, until when it finally struck the earth it would be moving no less than seven miles in each second. Now in exactly the same way each of the little meteoric particles away off in space began long ago to feel the pull, or "gravitation," of our sun, and to fall toward it. [illegible], if the meteorite and [illegible] had both been at rest at first the meteorite would have simply [illegible] into our sun; but as our sun is moving through space at the rate of 11 miles in each second, the meteorite will not hit it exactly but will miss it and begin to swing around in a curved path. As the sun is so much larger than the earth, its pull is very much greater.

If you could visit the sun, you would find when there that you weighed more than 27 times as much as you weigh on the earth; that is the sun would pull down 27 times as hard as the earth does. If you weigh 100 pounds here, you would weigh 2,700 pounds there, and be crushed by your own weight. This great pull of the sun on each of the meteorites makes them fall very swiftly indeed; it is because the pull is so strong that when they have fallen toward the sun to the place where the earth is, we find them moving some 26 miles in a single second.

STEAMBOATS THAT TRAVEL ON LAND.

[Wide World Magazine.]

The unsophisticated visitor to the lumber districts of Canada may occasionally see what is to him a very remarkable sight, a primitive-looking steamboat high and dry on a road, crawling along quite comfortably, apparently just as much at home as in its natural element. These boats are known as "alligators," and are used for towing the rafts of logs down the rivers and lakes to the mills. Sometimes it is desired to transfer one of these craft to a new sphere of operations which can only be reached overland and the boat is then hauled out of the water, placed upon rollers, and travels to its destination by means of its own power.

DANDRUFF ON HEAD HAIR CAME OUT
Head Itched and Burned All the Time. Rash Formed a Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Waterford, Me.—"I had dandruff in my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried ——— and a number of other tonics and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples up I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Luella Lord, May 10, 1913.

SHIELD A GRANGE TROPHY.

Public Installation of Officers at Interesting Meeting of Pomona.

Newport County Pomona Grange opened the new year by an unusually interesting meeting held at Fair hall Tuesday, which was well attended. Worthy Master Mrs. Helen A. Wilcox of Tiverton presided. Excellent reports were given by delegates from the six local Granges. The county secretary's report gave the present membership as 92.

Mr. Jesse Dutfee and Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham reported as a committee upon the proposed trophy to be purchased, Mrs. Peckham showing a number of catalogues and also special design sheets of shields. The matter was extensively discussed, a sum of money voted, and a shield decided upon, the first idea of the cup or statue being abandoned. Mr. I. Lincoln Sherman, the third member of the committee, was absent. The trophy will be awarded at the end of the year to the local Grange in Newport county securing the largest increase in membership during the year, the Grange so winning the prize to hold the trophy as long as it can maintain its yearly record of increase.

The following invitations for places of meeting for the year were received and accepted: Nannaquaket Grange, February; Tiverton, March; Middletown, April; Jamestown, May; Little Compton, October; Portsmouth, December. The meetings for the intervening months, except August and September, will be held at Fair hall.

At 12:30 adjournment was had to the dining room, where an oyster stew, with rolls, coffee, cake, and doughnuts, was served by Mrs. Joseph A. Peckham, assisted by Mrs. B. W. H. Peckham, Miss Eliza M. Peckham and Mrs. May Chase Spooner, all of Aquidneck Grange.

At 2 o'clock a public installation was held, Mrs. Edmund Spooner of Exeter Grange, East Greenwich, conducting the service in a creditable manner. She was assisted by her husband and by the State Grange secretary, Mrs. Harold R. Chase. The exercises opened with the "Installation Ode" and during the sealing of the chaplain the Grange sang "Nearer my God to Thee," Mrs. Walter Soule acted as pianist. The following officers took their seats:

Worthy Master—Mrs. Helen A. Wilcox of Tiverton (second term of two years).

Overseer—George L. Simmons of Little Compton (second term).

Lecturer—Mrs. Arthur Sherman of Portsmouth.

Steward—William H. Potter of Tiverton.

Assistant Steward—Walter Soule of Portsmouth.

Chaplain—Mrs. Elisha Clarke Peckham of Middletown (third term).

Treasurer—William S. Slocum of Middletown.

Secretary—Clover L. Hambly of Tiverton (second term).

Ceres—Mrs. May Chase Spooner of Middletown.

Pomona—Mrs. Fred Armbrust of Jamestown.

Lady Assistant Steward—Mrs. William T. Wood of Stone Bridge, Nannaquaket Grange.

Two officers-elect were absent—Flora, Miss Lottie Manchester of Tiverton, and Gate Keeper, T. Giles Carr of Jamestown—and these will be installed at the February meeting.

Past Master Warren R. Sherman presided during the exercises preceding the installation.

The new lecturer, Mrs. Sherman, presented a pleasing program at the close of the installation, as follows: Piano selection, "Irma Mazouka," Mrs. Walter Soule; humorous reading, "An Enquiring Yankee," Mrs. William K. Boyd; two vocal numbers, "My Rosary," Nevins, and "A Scotch Ballad," Jules Jordan, Mrs. Hilda Nell Grinnell, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Wilcox Almy; verse selection, "My Cat and I," Mrs. William M. Hughes; two piano selections, "Evening Chimes" and "Red Pepper," Edna Malone; humorous recitation and impersonation, "The Deaf Old Lady at the Restaurant," Miss Ruth Wilkey, who gave as an encore "The Bewildered Professor"; two vocal numbers, "When Shadows Gather" and "Gray Days," Miss Malone. The numbers were generally applauded.

During the closing business session the matter of continuing the meetings into the evening and possibly omitting the morning session, was vigorously debated. It was suggested that many would like to unite with the Pomona Grange but were unable to do so because of its all-day sessions. The subject was left to be settled at the February meeting, as it would require a change in the present by-laws.

Mrs. Sherman announced as the February lecturer's hour "A Washington Party;" special subjects, "A comparison of the farming conditions of the days of Washington with those of the present," Mr. I. Lincoln Sherman, and "The housekeeping methods of the Washingtonian Period" Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham.

Beat six eggs until very light. Add one-half cupful of candied orange peel cut fine, one third teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful and a half of mace and one cupful and a half of fine granulated sugar; beat steadily for ten minutes. Stir in lightly three cupfuls of sifted pastry flour mixed with one-half teaspoonful of salt and three level teaspoonfuls baking powder. Beat again for three minutes, stir in three quarters of a pound of blanched almonds which have been split and cut in long strips. Pour the batter half an inch deep in shallow buttered pans and bake. When cold cut in oblongs. TENNESSEE'S NEW ANTI-NARCOTIC LAW.

What is declared by the Pharmaceutical Era to be the most stringent anti-narcotic law in the union went into effect in Tennessee January 1. It has been drafted to stop the indiscriminate sale of habit-forming and narcotic drugs and provides that no such drugs or their derivatives shall be sold except on the prescription of a reputable physician, and that the order must be filled on the day of its issuance. Druggists are also required to keep a record of all sales. A section of the law, which forbids druggists to keep on hand more than five ounces of morphine, is attacked as unconstitutional. A section of the bill forbids the sale of medicines—except for external use—when they contain more than a specified amount of any narcotic; in the case of morphine one fourth of a grain to the ounce (av.). In order to check the sale of morphine by itinerant peddlers the possession of any of the narcotics named or their derivatives is held prima facie evidence of the violation of the law.

FIRELIGHT.

[David DeMay Farnsworth.]

I love to sit by the embers
As they sparkle, and fade, and creep,
While Twilight gathers her children
And tucks them away to sleep.

When the noises of Day are softened
To a soothing, mellow croon,
Ere the reign of Night is ushered
By her herald, the weird faced moon

There's a magic balm in the gloaming
For the day-racked weary brain,
And my care-freed fancy wanders
In the paths afar from pain.

The visions and dreams of boyhood
Pass before me, clear and bright,
In the changing coals and ashes,
As twilight fades into night,

The pillar of fire before me
Takes a deeper and stronger glow;
Calling me onward and upward
As it did in the long ago;

And I know that my heart grows younger,
That my soul climbs nearer Truth,
For these twilight-hour communings
With the things of my vanished youth.

So I love to sit by the embers
As they sparkle, and fade, and creep,
While Twilight gathers her children
And tucks them away to sleep.

A DANGEROUS CHALLENGER.

The Shamrock IV Being Built Along Lines of Latest Yacht Architecture.

Although much secrecy surrounds the building of the Shamrock IV, American yachtsmen with English connections are securing information which indicates that Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger will be the last word in European yacht building. Designer Charles Nicholson appears to have broken the shackles of English tradition and conservatism, with the result that there is building at Gosport a 75-foot racing craft embodying so many radical departures from the conventional type that the average English gentleman skipper is aghast

While neither Sir Thomas nor Nicholson will affirm or deny the reports relative to the structural details, it is generally accepted both here and abroad that the Shamrock IV will prove a most formidable challenger when ready for the starting gun in the first race of the international regatta September 1.

It is known that Sir Thomas laid the result of his observations and experience in his previous attempts to lift the America's cup before Nicholson and it was decided that, in order to win, it would be necessary to build along lines of the latest yacht architecture, regardless of the general attitude of English yachtsmen toward the various innovations.

That this policy is being carried out to the letter is apparent from the occasional fragments of information that emanate from Gosport despite the rigid rule of secrecy. When pieced together they would appear to indicate that the Shamrock IV will be of abnormal type, with a lead keel of approximately 60 tons, extraordinary overhang, centreboard and tremendous spread of canvas.

The mast, which may or may not be of "Marconi" type, will be the longest ever stepped in a challenger, length of water line considered and capable of carrying many thousand square feet of sail area. The yacht will be launched early in April and will be in racing trim by May.

With W. P. Barton in charge and Captain Gould as skipper, a series of preliminary trials will be sailed against the present Shamrock off the coast of Devonshire.

He Who Runs May Not Read

MANY a merchant has been too busy wondering what the parcel post was going to do for his competitor, the mail order house, to consider that it might have in it some good for himself. Yet instead of being a bugbear, threatening destructive competition, the parcel post in actuality broadens tremendously the smaller merchant's field of trade possibilities. It enables him to deal with every person within fifty miles of his place of business at a lower postal rate and much more expeditiously than any concern outside his district can. The moral is obvious.

[David DeMay Farnsworth]

I love to sit by the embers
As they sparkle and fade and creep
While Twilight gathers her children
And tucks them away to sleep

When the noises of Day are softened
To a soothing mellow croon
Ere the reign of Night is ushered
By her herald the weird faced moon

There's a magic balm in the gloaming
For the day racked weary brain
And my care freed fancy wanders
In the paths afar from pain

The visions and dreams of boyhood
Pass before me clear and bright
In the changing coals and ashes
As twilight fades into night

The pillar of fire before me
Takes a deeper and stronger glow,
Calling me onward and upward
As it did in the long ago

And I know that my heart grows younger
That my soul climbs nearer Truth
For these twilight hour communings
With the things of my vanished youth

So I love to sit by the embers
As they sparkle and fade and creep
While twilight gathers her children
And tucks them away to sleep

A DANGEROUS CHALLENGER.

The Shamrock IV Being Built Along Lines of Latest Yacht Architecture.

Although much secrecy surrounds the building of the Shamrock IV American yachtsmen with English connections are securing information which indicates that Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger will be the last word in European yacht building Designer Charles Nicholson appears to have broken the shackles of English tradition and conservatism with the result that there is building at Gosport a 75 foot racing craft embodying so many radical departures from the conventional type that the average English gentleman's [illegible] is aghast

While neither Sir Thomas nor Nicholson will affirm or deny the reports [illegible] it is generally accepted on this side that the Shamrock IV will be the most formidable challenger who races for the [illegible] in the first race of the international contest September 1[illegible]

It is known that Sir Thomas built as a result of his observations and experience in his previous attempts to lift the America's cup before Nicholson's and it was decided that in order to win it would be necessary to build along lines of the latest [illegible] regardless of the [illegible] attitude of English yachtsmen toward the innovation

That this policy is being carried out to the letter is apparent from the occasional fragments of information that manage to come from Gosport despite the rigid rule of secrecy When pieced together they would appear to indicate that the Shamrock IV will be of the [illegible] type with a lead keel of approximately 60 tons, extraordinary overhang [illegible] spread of canvas

The mast which may or may not be of Marconi type will be the longest ever stepped in a challenger [illegible] carrying many thousand square feet of sail The yacht will be launched early in April and will be [illegible] trim by May

With W P Burton in charge and Captain Coull as skipper a series of preliminary trials will be sailed against the present Shamrock off the coast of Devonshire

MANY a merchant has been too busy wondering what the parcel post was going to do for his competitor, the mail order house, to consider that it might have in it some good for himself Yet instead of being a bugbear threatening destructive competition, the parcel post in actuality broadens tremendously the smaller merchant's field of trade possibilities. It enables him to deal with every person within fifty miles of his place of business at a lower postal rate and much more expeditiously than any concern outside his district can. The moral is obvious.

RAILROAD DISCIPLINE AND STRIKES.

Mr. Fagan, the literary signal man has been insisting for years that railroad discipline was interfered with by the labor unions and has backed up his statements with evidence. The last report of the Interstate Commerce Commission showed that the greater part of the accidents which it investigated during the year were due to negligence or disobedience of orders by employes. It roundly scolded the railroad officials for not enforcing obedience, but skillfully evaded the question whether they were afraid of labor unions. Together, Mr. Fagan and the commission prepare us to suppose that the strike which tied up the Delaware & Hudson railroad for a day was an attempt to break down discipline and sacrifice safety to the interests or indifference of the employes.

Two men were dismissed for disobedience of orders. The unions admitted the disobedience, but insisted that it was ordered by the superiors of the men. This charge has been made before; it has been made in the case of the New Haven road. It is worthy of investigation, and if two men have been unjustly treated there must be some way of righting them without stopping the business of all the patrons of a railroad company.

The unions demanded that the two men be re-instated with full back pay. The company refused and 5,000 men abandoned their posts and left the business of thousands of travelers and shippers to take care of itself. The circumstances might possibly be such as to justify such action as this but it doesn't look probable. The case looks very much like the sort of thing which Fagan has charged, the combination of unions of railway men to break down discipline and frighten railroad officials out of punishing men who risk lives and property by their carelessness or deliberate disobedience of orders. If the Interstate Commerce Commission can investigate this without too much partiality for the labor unions, it would be a task worthy of its labors. If the labor unions are interfering with discipline it is time the public knew it.

STILL PRODDING BUSINESS.

If the President cares to have business recuperate he should find means for repressing the too ambitious legislators of his own party. Of course, bills may be introduced without the slightest chance of passing, and of two just presented which are calculated to alarm capital one is by a Republican.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa would make it a criminal offense to use one railroad in acquiring control of another which is possibly competitive; if non-competitive the Interstate Commerce Commission might permit the consolidation if the railroad acquiring control of another would itself be benefited as a result. This is carrying as far as legislation can the idea of forcing competition between carriers, but why try to force competition when the Interstate Commerce Commission has authority to protect the community from all the effects of monopoly? In view of the powers of that tribunal, why not let one man own all the railroads in the country? The prices he shall charge to the public are controlled by an agency of the government.

Congressman Stanley, who would stiffen the Sherman law, is a member of the President's party, and gained some notoriety as chairman of the committee which investigated the Steel Corporation. He would legislate the "rule of reason" out of the Sherman law and judicial opinions construing it, but when he shall make the law so drastic as that it will not work at all it will tie up business. Two grocers could not form a partnership and merge their stores without inviting penitentiary sentences. Two stage lines which lost money could not settle the matter by one buying out the other without laying themselves liable to criminal prosecution. The business of the country is not suffering from the currency law and probably not from the tariff law, but it is suffering from a continuous succession of threats of harassing and interference and deprivation of profits and criminal prosecutions like this offered by Representative Stanley.

ADVERTISING AS AN ART.

The fact cannot be questioned that advertising has become an art in these days, and that it includes about everything in its scope, however small or insignificant the article may be which is for sale. Time was, not very many years ago, when it was thought that many things did not need to be advertised, as it was believed that if they were once known there would be no need of wasting money in exploiting them further. In many cases this might have been in a measure true, but business ideas have materially changed in the past few years and now every one who has anything on the market for sale realizes that he must advertise it in the most attractive form he can devise if he expects to make it a success and realize a profit from it.

This knowledge, gained through much experience has resulted in putting before the public advertising matter which in many cases makes as interesting reading as many of the so-called short stories found everywhere. It has been the means of inducing not only the people interested in trade to read the advertisements but nearly every one else also, and consequently has brought large sales to manufacturers and shop keepers simply because they have managed by their alluring schemes of advertising to attract all sorts and conditions of people who formerly seldom read advertisements unless they were looking for something of special interest.

It is quite safe to say that there are comparatively few people today who buy either newspapers or magazines who do not read the cleverly worded and sometimes beautifully illustrated advertisements found in such numbers in every publication with as much interest as the fiction and other articles. In fact, many have come to regard what appears in the advertising columns as the most interesting reading matter and those who are able to put their advertisements in the most attractive and fetching manner make the biggest sales and are the most successful business people. In this day and generation it surely pays to advertise, but it must be in the form of interesting reading to catch the eye and hold the attention.

LACK OF PARTY HARMONY.

The Republican party in Rhode Island does not seem to be in the best possible condition to engage in a campaign for state offices this year. If there is not really a split among the leaders, it is at least true that the feeling is not so harmonious as it should be if the impending campaign is to be fought with full assurance of success. Even the relations between the governor and the so-called head of the party evidently are considerably strained, as was shown by the recent incident when these two leaders had a rather sharp conference over the telephone and the situation seemed somewhat delicate. Such things do not affect the state's welfare particularly, but they do not argue for the good of the party and are likely to affect that organization in the work which lies before it during the present year. It probably is not essential to the best interests of the state that the administration for the two years after the present terms expire shall remain unchanged, but it is a matter of interest to all good citizens what kind of an administration the state is to have, and so the people follow more or less closely the trend of things political and watch the conditions within the parties.

The state campaign will not open of course until next fall or late in the summer, and events during the interim may change the conditions and alter the outlook, but at present it is quite evident that there is less harmony among the Republicans than can be viewed with complacency by those who believe it is best on general principles for them rather than the Democrats to be in control of the administration and the legislature. A look at the latter party, however, shows that it also is not in so harmonious a condition as it ought to be on the eve of a state election. The difference however, is that the Democrats often present a disrupted condition before a campaign, while the Republicans seldom fail to offer a united front to the opposition at such a time. It is not unlikely, in view of that fact, that the Republicans before the campaign actually begins will settle all differences between the leaders, restore harmony and go into the contest without a dispute of consequence.

A movement for the erection of a bronze monument of Abraham Lincoln, of heroic size, on the grounds of the State House in Providence, the money to be secured by popular subscriptions, has taken definite form. It was started by the Sons of Veterans and is being put in form by the governor, other officials and representative citizens. The commission has adopted the suggestion of the Sons of Veterans that the school children should be asked to contribute first, and if allowable, a subscription be taken among them on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, as a start for the fund. Other contributions will be gratefully received, however. When enough money has been received to make the monument assured, the planning committee is to act. The movement should meet general favor throughout the state.

President Wilson's message on the "trust question is attracting more than the usual amount of public attention and is quite generally commended, although a few think his plans too conciliatory. These would pursue methods which would be confiscatory and ruinous. The President's suggestion that the government and business men are ready to meet each other halfway "in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law," has struck a responsive chord in representatives of differing political parties. As a whole, the message is in favor of accommodation, co-operate and conservation, rather than of antagonism and possibly persecution, and it is this policy which in the end will be most successful.

The unanimous action of the Board of Trade, in adopting the report of the committee appointed to consider what if any changes are desired in the city charter, is significant of the feeling in this community in regard to the present form of government. Composed as it is of men engaged in the active business of the city, the motion condemning the proposed amendments to the charter now pending before the General Assembly must have a great influence with the members of that body. Doubtless other non-partisan organizations are still to be heard from, showing the approval of the voters of the present democratic form of municipal government.

A judge of the circuit court in Wisconsin has declared the eugenics marriage law of that state unconstitutional. His decision is based on the ground that its provisions are discriminatory, that it demanded an act on the part of physicians which could not be carried into effect for the maximum fee fixed by the act, and that the law was contrary to public policy and should apply to women as well as to men. The judge has ordered the clerks of courts to grant licenses which are not accompanied by a physician's health certificate, thus completely nullifying the law.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, who has started a crusade in New York against the promiscuous sale of certain drugs, particularly cocaine and heroin, the latter a derivation from morphine and containing many of its harmful qualities, has found that there has been a general sale and use of these drugs, due either to the failure of the police to enforce the laws or of the courts to interpret them. She has a hard task before her.

Senator Kenyon of Illinois holds up the situation in the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company as an argument for government ownership of railroads. There may be worse things than poor individual management of a railroad, and there is little likelihood that government control would give any great improvement.

The address of President Titus of the Board of Trade, reviewing the work of the past year, very fittingly described the office and scope of such an organization. His suggestions are worth the attention of the members and of many others who should become members of such a body.

It is not always known who are friends of charters or of men until they are attacked.

Public School Committee to Enforce Admittance Rules for Children.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The public school committee held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the town hall, the full board being present. To remedy the continual annoyance to teachers, the board is enforcing the rule of no admittance except twice a year, at the opening of the school year in September and at the beginning of the third term in February. Any child of six years can be registered during the first two weeks of these terms, and at no other time. It is also required that, where families move into different districts, the parents shall apply to the superintendent to ascertain which school the child shall be permitted to enter. With the over-crowded conditions which have prevailed the enforcement of these rules has become imperative, particularly as many of the Portuguese families move somewhat frequently.

The annual school reports were distributed by Superintendent Nathaniel L. Champlin.

Messrs. I. Lincoln Sherman, Joseph A. Peckham and Elisha A. Peckham attended Tuesday in Providence the annual meeting of the Patrons' Fire Relief Association of Rhode Island. Mr. Sherman was again re-elected president, which office he has held since 1901. Mr. Joseph A. Peckham was re-elected a director, having also held this position many years.

The entertainment committee of Aquidneck Grange—Mr. and Mrs. R. Wallace Peckham, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbell, Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. William J. A. Taber—held a business meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peckram, Indian avenue. They are planning to bring out the well known play, "A Scrap of Paper."

Several cases of mumps are reported on Mitchell's road and there seems to be a general epidemic of throat troubles among children and adults.

The Peabody Annex was closed Monday on account of a visiting day by the teacher.

Mr. Harry Leach of the Witherbee school returned Monday after a week's illness.

INDUSTRIAL SAFETY.

Pennsylvania Railroad's Practical Work for Protection of Employes.

Common-Sense: in small and inexpensive, but important, safety devices is a notable quality in the work which the Pennsylvania railroad has been carrying on in the care of its employes. Protection of the people employed in an industry is coming to be recognized as fully as vital an element in economy of production as protection of equipment, and the spirit which is replacing the old careless disregard of human life is expressing itself in many ways. Study of factory conditions and reforms of various kinds are now advertised as evidences of business virtue by companies instituting them. Not infrequently, however, the reforms are of the sort that make good advertising copy, while really important evils are allowed to go unchanged. Rest rooms are started in factories that are perilously lacking in fire escapes, and stores make a point of giving short hours of work, when investigation would reveal that their girls are getting much less than a comfortable wage to support them in their supposed hours of joyful ease. Consequently it is interesting to come upon a record of practical work, carried out quietly.

It was noticed in the Pennsylvania shops that men's eyes were frequently injured by chips flying from emery wheels, and now the men are supplied with goggles, so that their sight is safe. Other frequent accidents came when the heads of chisels flew off, and it became a rule that all chisels with "mushroom heads" must be taken to the blacksmith and made over. Ladders that slipped on concrete floors were shod with blocks of basswood, so that falls were prevented and ladders for use on wood floors were equipped with spikes. Men were often hurt in using tools without handles, and now accidents of that sort are avoided by a rule that only properly protected tools shall be used. All machinery such as buzz saws, lathes and planers is being equipped with guards, so that the men cannot come in contact with it and be hurt by the whirling tools, and in general a valuable work is being done in taking care of the little things that are important in industrial safety.

Temperatures are low along the northern border of the country, particularly in the Lake Superior district. The lowest in New England last night was 10 below at Greenville, Maine. In the vicinity of Boston a shift in the wind from northeast to northwest caused a drop of 14 degrees to a reading of 20 at 10 o'clock a. m. RAILROAD DISCIPLINE AND STRIKES

Mr Fagan the [illegible] signal man has been insisting for years that railroad discipline [illegible] interfered with by the labor unions [illegible] his statements [illegible] dence. The last report of the Interstate Commerce Commission [illegible] that the greater part of the accidents which it investigated during the year were [illegible] employes. It found [illegible] railroad officials for not enforcing obedience but skillfully evaded the question whether they were afraid of the unions. [illegible] Mr Fagan and the commission [illegible] suppose that the strike which tied up the Delaware & Hudson railroad for a day was [illegible] discipline [illegible] to the interests [illegible] the employes.

[illegible] were dismissed for disobedience [illegible]. The unions admitted [illegible] but insisted that [illegible] the superiors of the men [illegible] been [illegible] in the case [illegible]. It is worthy of investigation and if two men have been unjustly treated there must be some way of righting them without tying up the business of all the patrons of a railroad company.

The unions demanded that the two men be reinstated with full back pay. The company refused and 1 000 men abandoned their posts and left the business of thousands of travelers and shippers to take care of itself. The circumstances might possibly be such as to justify such action as this. But it doesn't look profitable. The case looks very much like the sort of thing which Fagan has charged—the combination of unions of railway men to break down discipline and frighten railroad officials out of punishing men who risk lives and property by their carelessness or deliberate disobedience of orders. If the Interstate Commerce Commission can [illegible] much [illegible] the labor unions [illegible] it [illegible] a task worthy of its labors. If the labor unions are interfering with discipline it is time the public [illegible].

STILL PRODDING BUSINESS

[illegible] President [illegible] to give [illegible] [illegible] signs [illegible] bills [illegible] the sight [illegible] must [illegible]

penitentiary sentences. Two stage lines which lost money could not settle the matter by one buying out the other without laying themselves liable to criminal prosecution. The business of the country is not suffering from the currency law and probably not from the tariff law but it is suffering from a continuous succession of threats of harassing and interference and deprivation of profits and criminal prosecutions like this offered by Representative Stanley.

ADVERTISING AS AN ART

The fact cannot be questioned that advertising has become an art. In this day and that it includes about everything in its scope however small or insignificant the article may be which is for sale. Time was not very many years ago when it was thought that many things did not need to be advertised, as it was believed that if they were once known there would be no need of wasting money in exploiting them further. In many cases this might have been in a measure true but business ideas have materially changed in the past few years and now every one who has anything on the market for sale realizes that he must advertise it in the most attractive form he can do. Else if he expects to make it a success and realize a profit from it.

This knowledge gained through much experience has resulted in putting before the public advertising matter which in many cases makes as interesting reading as many of the so called short stories found everywhere. It has been the means of inducing not only the people interested in trade to read the advertisments but nearly every one else also and consequently has brought large sales to manufacturers and shop keepers simply because they have managed by their alluring schemes of advertising to attract all sorts and conditions of people who formerly seldom read advertisements unless they were looking for something of special interest.

It is quite safe to say that there are comparatively few people today who buy either newspapers or magazines who do not read the cleverly worded and sometimes beautifully illustrated advertisement found in such numbers in every publication with as much interest as the fiction and other articles. In fact many have come to regard what appears in the advertising columns as the most interesting reading matter and those who are able to put their advertisements in the most attractive and fetching manner make the biggest sales and are the most successful business people. In this day and generation it surely pays to advertise but it must be in the form of interesting reading to catch the eye and hold the attention.

LACK OF PARTY HARMONY

The Republican party in Rhode Island does not seem to be in the best possible condition to engage in a campaign for state offices this year. If there is not really a split among the leaders it is at least true that the feeling is not so harmonious as it should be if the impending campaign is to be fought with full assurance of success. Even the relations between the governor and the so called head of the party evidently are considerably strained as was shown by the recent incident when these two leaders had a rather sharp [illegible] over the telephone [illegible] situation seemed somewhat [illegible] things do not [illegible] the state's welfare particularly. But they do not argue for the good of the party and are likely to affect that organization in the [illegible] which lies before it during the present year. It probably is not essential to the best interests of the state that the administration for the two years after the present terms expire shall remain unchanged but it is a matter of interest to all good citizens what kind of an administration the state is to have and [illegible] people [illegible] more or less [illegible] things political and [illegible] things within the [illegible].

[illegible] state campaign [illegible] course until next fall or late in the summer [illegible] many changes [illegible] and [illegible] at present it is [illegible] [illegible] Democrats [illegible] administration [illegible] [illegible] harmonious [illegible] [illegible] Republicans [illegible] that [illegible] with [illegible]

[illegible] monument [illegible] Abraham Lincoln [illegible] Providence [illegible] popular subscription [illegible] has taken definite form [illegible] Sons of Veterans [illegible] citizens. The commission [illegible] school [illegible] asked to contribute [illegible] allowable [illegible] them [illegible] February 12 [illegible] enough money has [illegible] make the monument [illegible] planning committee is [illegible]

at The movement should meet general favor throughout the state.

President Wilson's message on the trust question is attracting more than the usual amount of public attention and is quite generally commended although a few think his plans too conciliatory. These would pursue methods which would be confiscatory and ruinous. The President's suggestion that the government and business men are ready to meet each other halfway in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law has struck a responsive chord in representatives of differing political parties. As a whole the message is in favor of accommodation co-operation and conservation rather than of antagonism and possibly persecution and it is this policy which in the end will be most successful.

The unanimous action of the Board of Trade in adopting the report of the committee appointed to consider what if any changes are desired in the city charter is significant of the feeling in this community in regard to the present form of government. Composed as it is of men engaged in the active business of the city the action condemning the proposed amendments to the charter now pending before the General Assembly must have a great influence with the members of that body. Doubtless other non partisan organizations are still to be heard from showing the approval of the voters of the present democratic form of municipal government.

A judge of the circuit court in Wisconsin has declared the eugenics marriage law of that state unconstitutional. His decision is based on the ground that its provisions are discriminatory, that it demanded an act on the part of physicians which could not be carried into effect for the maximum fee fixed by the act and that the law was contrary to public policy and should apply to women as well as to men. The judge has ordered the clerks of courts to grant licenses which are not accompanied by a physician's health certificate thus completely nullifying the law.

Mrs William K Vanderbilt who has started a crusade in New York against the promiscuous sale of certain drugs particularly cocaine and heroin the latter a derivation from morphine and containing many of its harmful qualities has found that there has been a general sale and use of these drugs due either to the failure of the police to enforce the laws or of the courts to interpret them. She has a hard task before her.

Senator Kenyon of Illinois holds up the situation in the New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company as an argument for government ownership of railroads. There may be worse things than poor individual management of a railroad and there is little likelihood that government control would give any great improvement.

The address of President Tilley of the Board of Trade reviewing the work of the past year very fittingly described the office and scope of such an organization. His suggestions are worth the attention of the members and of many others who should become members of such a body.

It is not always known who are friends or traitors or of men until they are attacked.

Public School Committee to Enforce Admittance Rules for Children.

[Regular correspondence of the News]

The public school committee held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the town hall the full board being present. To remedy the continual annoyance to teachers the board is enforcing the rule of no admittance except twice a year at the opening of the school year in September and at the beginning of the third term in February. Any child of six years can be registered during the first two weeks of these terms and at no other time. It is also required that where families move into different districts the parents shall apply to the superintendent to ascertain which school the child shall be permitted to enter. With the over-crowded conditions which have prevailed the enforcement of these rules has become imperative particularly as many of the Portuguese families move somewhat frequently.

The annual school reports were distributed by Superintendent Nathaniel L Champlin.

Messrs I Lincoln Sherman Joseph A Peckham and Elisha A Peckham attended Tuesday in Providence the annual meeting of the Patrons Fire Relief Association of Rhode Island. Mr Sherman was again re-elected president which office he has held since 1901. Mr Joseph A Peckham was re elected a director having also held this position many years.

Protection of the people employed in an industry is coming to be recognized as fully as vital an element in economy of production as protection of equipment and the spirit which is replacing the old careless disregard of human life is expressing itself in many ways. Study of factory conditions and reforms of various kinds are now advertised as evidences of business virtue by companies instituting them. Not infrequently, however, the reforms are of the sort that make good advertising copy while really important evils are allowed to go unchanged. Rest rooms are started in factories that are perilously lacking in fire escapes and stores make a point of giving short hours of work when investigation would reveal that their girls are getting much less than a comfortable wage to support them in their supposed hours of joyful ease. Consequently it is interesting to come upon a record of practical work carried out quietly.

It was noticed in the Pennsylvania shops that men's eyes were frequently injured by chips flying from emery wheels and now the men are supplied with goggles so that their sight is safe. Other frequent accidents came when the heads of chisels flew off and it became a rule that all chisels with mushroom heads must be taken to the blacksmith and made over. Ladders that slipped on concrete floors were shod with blocks of basswood so that falls were prevented and ladders for use on wood floors were equipped with spikes. Men were often hurt in using tools without handles and now accidents of this sort are avoided by a rule that only properly protected tools shall be used. All machinery such as buzz saws lathes and planers is being equipped with guards so that the men cannot come in contact with it and be hurt by the whirling tools and in general a valuable work is being done in taking care of the little things that are important in industrial safety.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

Boy Rescued from Easton's Pond by Scout Master Gatzenmeier.

A plunge into the cold water at Easton's pond by Scout Master Alfred G. Gatzenmeier was all that saved Robert A. Randall, Jr., of 660 Thames street, from meeting his death by drowning early Tuesday evening. Randall, who intended to skate across to the opposite dam, fell through the thin ice and sent out several frantic appeals for help. To his rescue came Scout Master Gatzenmeier, Scouts Kenneth Kaull and Chester Coggeshall and Master Frederick Sullivan.

Two channels of water separated by a thin ridge of ice were between the drowning Randall and his rescuers, the boy having fallen through near the Eustis Avenue side of the pond. The long board which had been placed in the vicinity for such cases as this failed to reach Randall, and Mr. Gatzenmeier was forced to jump into the icy water, swim to the ridge of ice, clamber over it, and go into the water again in order to reach the boy. The swim back was made in safety, although Randall was in a semi-conscious condition, Mr. Gatzenmeier being aided in lifting the boy out of the water by the Scouts present.

Master Randall was then rushed to his home in an automobile owned by Mr. F. A. Clarke and driven by his son, Walter Clarke.

A WINTER DANCE.

Fay's Orchestra to Play for Excelsior Club Social.

Fay's orchestra from Rhodes on the Pawtuxet will furnish the music for the Excelsior Club Social next Monday evening. Every summer many Newporters go to Rhodes to dance to the music of this famous orchestra, and Messrs. O'Connell, West and Harvey are to bring Fay's to Newport for a winter dance. A full line of the latest dance music will be in order and 20 dances are on the program.

This will be the second visit of Fay's orchestra to Newport and those who were present at its last appearance will be likely to be on hand again. Leader Fay has made a specialty of the latest music for the new dances.

RAIN DURING THE NIGHT.

When It Stopped the Temperature Fell Below the Freezing Point.

Ice Cutting Interrupted But Not Spoiled and Work to be Resumed at Once.

There was a change in the weather program Tuesday night, when, after trying for some hours, it succeeded in raining. It looked for a while as though the effort would be futile, but after some snow and hail it finally rained, about midnight. It continued until late this morning. The temperature had been up while it rained, but immediately after it ceased the mercury began dropping and in a short time it was freezing. The sun came out at 1:30.

Up to 6 a. m. .58 of rain fell, and considerable after that hour. This is by far the heaviest rain of the month, and despite its effect on the ice it was needed. Toward Boston the rain was frozen by the earlier arrival of cold weather up that way, and the 11 o'clock and 12:56 trains came in well covered with snow.

The ice cutting was cut short by the rain. The men worked as usual Tuesday night and put in all they could, and of course expected to resume this morning. About 10 o'clock, after the rain had ceased, those interested visited Easton's pond and found that the rain had not seriously affected the ice and cutting will be resumed Thursday morning.

Tuesday night the new Tasso Bros. icehouse, near Green End, blossomed forth in electric lights, the runs having been wired during the afternoon. The lights were also strung along the ice in a temporary line, and made the pond look quite modern and up-to-date. Below, the Newport Company was using old-fashioned lanterns.

Frasch has filled his ice house and Tuesday was filling a portion addition which he had built in front of it, and which will hold considerable. Jurgens also had his house full and was stacking ice. The Newport and the new company were both running in as fast as possible, each using as many men as could be employed to advantage.

At the Lily pond the Newport company also had a gang at work. While some of the ice cut there Tuesday was rather thin, other was quite thick. The Lily pond house is about half full and that at Green End about one quarter.

NEWPORT BALL PLAYERS GOING HIGHER.

The Boston Globe Tuesday had a [illegible] of Jimmy Cooney, of last year's Worcester base ball team, who is to go to Hot Springs with the Boston Red Sox in March. It is quite a jump for Cooney, who was playing with the Trojans in the early summer before Jesse Burkett took him to Worcester. There is a rumor that Burkett is to give Ralph O'Connell a try-out in Worcester the coming season. Cooney played substitute for O'Connell while the latter was in college.

CENTENARY OF A SONG.

Baltimore to Glorify the Star Spangled Banner in September.

Baltimore is at work on its plans to make the centenary of "The Star-Spangled Banner" a national event of 1914 and to group around it notable celebrations of patriotism and peace. The successful defense of Baltimore at North Point and Fort McHenry comprised the final battles which preceded the Treaty of Ghent, and those will be emphasized. The range of the celebration will include Washington, Annapolis, Frederick, and the whole of Chesapeake bay, with the main program and climax in Baltimore. The national Star-Spangled Banner centennial commission has been incorporated.

Honorary presidents are Woodrow Wilson, William H Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. The vice presidents are the Vice President of the United States, Thomas R Marshall; Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives; the admiral of the navy, the general of the army, Governor Goldsborough of Maryland, and the present governors of the 17 states which constituted the Union in 1814. The active president is James H. Preston, mayor of Baltimore; executive chairman, Dr. A. B. Bibbins; vice chairman, Allen S. Will; secretary, Robert E. Lee; treasurer, T. Rowland Thomas; corresponding secretary, Lynn R. Meekins.

The program will begin with a pilgrimage Thursday, September 3, to the historic war of 12 sites along the Patuxent river and to the grave at Upper Marlboro of Dr. William Beanes, for whose release Key visited the British fleet. Later, while detained on the cartel ship Minden, Key, in view of the bombardment of Fort McHenry, was inspired to write his famous song.

The regular program will begin with exercises for Patriots' day, Sunday, September 6, when the speakers will be Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark. Other special addresses, with appropriate music and decorations, will occur throughout the city. The celebration will last 10 days. There will be a great Chesapeake regatta off Fort McHenry, and an aviation meet with demonstrations of aviation in relation to warfare.

Baltimore has been called the "gastronomic capital of the universe," and Maryland hospitality is proverbial. One exhibition will be the New Baltimore. Since the big fire of a decade ago, and especially during the past few years, the city has been evolutionized from cobblestones to modern pavements, and has been made one of the most complete and progressive municipalities of the world.

SEASONING WOOD BY ELECTRICITY.

[Industrial Engineering.]

In the Nodon process of seasoning timber by electricity, the newly felled trees are sawed into thick planks and laid on a false flooring, one on top of the other, with the interposition, however, of moistened matting or similar material between each layer to act as electrodes for the introduction of an alternating current which is passed for ten hours or so. The effect of the current is to produce chemical changes in the cellulose and the sap, rendering them impervious to decay. Further, the sap loses those gummy and hygroscopic characteristics which normally prevent rapid drying. It is claimed that timber thus treated is ready for use a few weeks after it is felled, and is harder, stronger, more homogeneous, easier to work and less warped by moisture than timber which has been seasoned in the ordinary air-drying process.

"KIDDIES" MAKE GOOD.

Close of "Pinafore" Engagement to be Followed by Moving Pictures.

Hap Ward's "kiddies" close their "Pinafore" engagement at the Opera House this evening. They have been a great success and it was hoped they could be held through the week. Master Nelson has not only made good in the role of Sir Joseph, but in his character work as a street urchin is equally clever. He sings the high passages in clear tones and is quite a wonder for one so young. "Babe" Smith is also a juvenile success and a capable comedienne, as the audience quickly perceives.

Master Nelson. As a Street Urchin.

Thursday the Opera House will take up moving pictures again, two features heading the bill. The first will be "Rouges of Paris," in four parts. This picture will be acted by the Solax company, who have visited Newport several times within the past year to produce scenes to make their pictures a greater success. They have just finished a picture called "The Burning Ship" and have left her till the late summer. The other feature will be "The Bonds of Passion," a photo-play in three parts, including a sensational rescue of a baby, the fatal plunge of an automobile and other startling incidents.

GIVEN A SURPRISE PARTY.

Tuesday evening a surprise party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Dawley at their home on Broadway by several friends, who were well prepared for such an occasion. Vocal and instrumental music and recitations were rendered by several of the guests. Miss Josephine Cummings gave piano selections, and there were games and dancing. Parker's orchestra furnished the music. A buffet luncheon was served followed by several of the "old-fashioned" dances, including the "Virginia reel."

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The heavy rain during the night and early morning drew the frost to the surface of the ground and the drop in temperature which came just before noon made the streets and sidewalks icy and the traveling bad. This was especially so on the tar macadam roads, Narragansett avenue being almost impassable except for sharpened horses. One farmer with a light wagon loaded with grain solved the problem of going up the street by using blankets. The process of moving them made his progress slow, but he kept his horse on its feet.

Mr. T. A. H. Tefft of Shawmut, Mass., was guest of his father, Mr. E. N. Tefft, on Cole street Tuesday.

Tug Richmond is tied up at Ferry wharf for shelter.

Mrs. Samuel Smith and Miss Smith left Tuesday evening for a short visit to New York.

Miss Clara Howland is at home from the State Normal School for the mid-winter vacation.

Mr. William Knowles a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Knowles, on Conanicus avenue.

Mr. L. E. Peckham has returned from a short visit to his daughter in New Jersey.

Mr. E. Stewart is confined to his home on Clinton avenue by illness.

The Mandolin Club is arranging for a comedy to be given shortly, the proceeds to go toward fire alarm boxes when the new system is installed.

Four hundred bushels of mussels arrived Tuesday for the Jamestown Fish Company and are to be opened to supply bait.

UNDER BAPTIST AUSPICES.

United Missionary Campaign to Hold a Large Meeting Friday.

The Baptist United Missionary Campaign for Rhode Island will hold its meeting for Newport and vicinity in the Second Baptist Church Friday afternoon and evening. It will be under the auspices of all the Baptist churches of the city and surrounding territory and many delegates are expected. The committee of arrangements are Rev. F. G. McKeever and Rev. Arthur Crane. The afternoon session will be at 2:30 and the evening at 7:30. Supper will be provided at a nominal charge.

Among the speakers expected are Rev. J. C. Hobbins, considered one of the most eloquent and thrilling speakers on the public platform; Rev. P. R. Bakeman, a missionary in China, now on furlough, and Mrs. Carrie A. Robinson. A large and enthusiastic meeting is looked for and all interested in missionary work are invited to be present.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

Boy Rescued from Easton's Pond by Scout Master Gatzenmeier.

A plunge into the rold water at Easton's pond by Scout Master Alfred G. Gatzenmeier was all that saved Robert A. Randall, Jr., of 660 Thames street, from meeting his death by drowning early Tuesday evening. Randall, who intended to skate across to the opposite dam, fell through the thin ice and sent out several frantic appeals for help To his rescue came Scout Master Gatzenmeier, Scouts Kenneth Kaull and Chester Coggeshall and Master Frederick Sullivan.

Two channels of water separated by a thin ridge of ice were between the drowning Randall and his rescuers, the boy having fallen through near the Eustis Avenue side of the pond. The long board which had been placed in the vicinity for such cases as this failed to reach Randall, and Mr. Gatzenmeier was forced to jump into the icy water, swim to the ridge of ice, clamber over it, and go into the water again in order to reach the boy. The swim back was made in safety, although Randall was in a semi-conscious condition, Mr. Gatzenmeier being aided in lifting the boy out of the water by the Scouts present.

Master Randall was then rushed to his home in an automobile owned by Mr. F. A. Clarke and driven by his son, Walter Clarke.

A WINTER DANCE.

Fay's Orchestra to Play for Excelsior Club Social.

Fay's orchestra from Rhodes on the Pawtuxet will furnish the music for the Excelsior Club Social next Monday evening. Every summer many Newporters go to Rhodes to dance to the music of this famous orchestra, and Messers. O'Connell, West and Harvey are to bring Fay's to Newport for a winter dance. A full line of the latest dance music will be in order and 20 dances are on the program.

This will be the second visit of Fay's orchestra to Newport and those who were present at its last appearance will be likely to be on hand again Leader Fay has made a specialty of the latest music for the new dances.

—The Parish Aid Society of St. George's Church will give another of its famous Dutch Suppers in the near future. Appropriate foods and costumes and dancing will enliven the evening.

-Some one has suggested that the "wild geese" referred to Tuesday were only ducks on the way from the bay to Cormorant rock to feed during the night, and that they could have been seen returning home in the early morning.

-Revenue cutter Itasca, which has been at work on the New England coast, looking out for wrecks and assisting crews of vessels during the past week, put into Newport harbor Tuesday night and left at 10 o'clock this morning for New York.

RAIN DURING THE NIGHT.

When It Stopped the Temperature Fell Below the Freezing Point.

Ice Cutting Interrupted But Not Spoiled and Work to be Resumed at Once.

There was a change in the weather program Tuesday night, when, after trying for some hours, it succeeded in raining. It looked for a while as though the effort would be futile, but after some snow and hail it finally rained, about midnight. It continued until late this morning. The temperature had been up while it rained, but immediately after it ceased the mercury began dropping and in a short time it was freezing. The sun came out at 1:30.

Up to 6 a. m. .58 of rain fell, and considerable after that hour. This is by far the heaviest rain of the month, and despite its effect on the ice it was needed. Toward Boston the rain was frozen by the earlier arrival of cold weather up that way, and the 11 o'clock and 12:56 trains came in well covered with snow.

The ice cutting was cut short by the rain. The men worked as usual Tuesday night and put in all they could, and of course expected to resume this morning. About 10 o'clock, after the rain had ceased, those interested visited Easton's pond and found that the rain had not seriously affected the ice and cutting will be resumed Thursday morning.

Tuesday night the new Tasso Bros' icehouse, near Green End, blossomed forth in electric lights, the runs having been wired during the afternoon. The lights were also strung along the ice in a temporary line, and made the pond look quite modern and up-to-date. Below, the Newport Company was using old-fashioned lanterns

Frasch has filled his ice house and Tuesday was filling a portico addition which he had built in front of it, and which will hold considerable. Jurgens also had his house full and was stacking ice. The Newport and the new company were both running in as fast as possible, each using as many men as could be employed to advantage.

At the Lily pond the Newport company also had a gang at work. While some of the ice cut there Tuesday was rather thin, other was quite thick. The Lily pond house is about half full and that at Green End about one quarter.

NEWPORT BALL PLAYERS GOING HIGHER.

The Boston Globe Tuesday had a [illegible] of Jimmy Cooney, of last year's Worcester base ball team, who is to go to Hot Springs with the Boston Red Sox in March. It is quite a jump for Cooney, who was playing on the Trojans in the early summer before Jesse Burkett took him to Worcester There is a rumor that Burkett is to give Ralph O'Connell a try-out in Worcester the coming season. Cooney played substitute for O'Connell while the latter was in college.

CENTENARY OF A SONG.

Baltimore to Glorify the Star Spangled Banner in September.

Baltimore is at work on its plans to make the centenary of "The Star-Spangled Banner" a national event of 1914 and to group around it notable celebrations of patriotism and peace. The successful defense of Baltimore at North Point and Fort McHenry comprised the final battles which preceded the Treaty of Ghent, and those will be emphasized. The range of the celebration will include Washington, Annapolis, Frederick, and the whole of Chesapeake bay, with the main program and climax in Baltimore. The national Star-Spangled Banner centennial commission has been incorporated

Honorary presidents are Woodrow Wilson, William H Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. The vice presidents are the Vice President of the United States, Thomas R Marshall; Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives; the admiral of the navy, the general of the army, Governor Goldsborough of Maryland, and the present governors of the 17 states which constituted the Union in 1814. The active president is James H. Preston, mayor of Baltimore; executive chairman, Dr. A. B. Bibbins; vice chairman, Allen S Will; secretary, Robert E Lee; treasurer, T. Rowland Thomas; corresponding secretary, Lynn R. Meekins.

The program will begin with a pilgrimage Thursday, September 3, to the historic war of 12 sites along the Patuxent river and to the grave at Upper Marlboro of Dr William Beanes, for whose release Key visited the British fleet, Later, while detained on the cartel ship Minden, Key, in view of the bombardment of Fort McHenry, was inspired to write his famous song.

The regular program will begin with exercises for Patriots' day, Sunday, September 6, when the speakers will be Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark. Other special addresses, with appropriate music and decorations, will occur throughout the city. The celebration will last 10 days There will be a great Chesapeake regatta off Fort McHenry, and an aviation meet with demonstrations of aviation in relation to warfare.

Baltimore has been called the "gastronomic capital of the universe," and Maryland hospitality is proverbial. One exhibition will be the New Baltimore. Since the big fire of a decade ago, and especially during the past few years, the city has been revolutionized from cobblestones to modern pavements, and has been made one of the most complete and progressive municipalities of the world.

SEASONING WOOD BY ELECTRICITY.

[Industrial Engineering.]

In the Nodon process of seasoning timber by electricity, the newly felled trees are sawed into thick planks and laid on a false flooring, one on top of the other, with the interposition, however, of moistened matting or similar material between each layer to act as electrodes for the introduction of an alternating current which is passed for ten hours or so. The effect of the current is to produce chemical changes in the cellulose and the sap, rendering them impervious to decay. Further, the sap loses those gummy and hygroscopic characteristics which normally prevent rapid drying. It is claimed that timber thus treated is ready for use a few weeks after it is felled, and is harder, stronger, more homogeneous, easier to work and less warped by moisture than timber which has been seasoned in the ordinary air-drying process.

"KIDDIES" MAKE GOOD.

Close of "Pinafore" Engagement to be Followed by Moving Pictures.

Hap Ward's "kiddies" close their "Pinafore" engagement at the Opera House this evening. They have been a great success and it was hoped they could be held through the week. Master Nelson has not only made good in the role of Sir Joseph, but in his character work as a street urchin is equally clever. He sings the high passages in clear tones and is quite a wonder for one so young. "Babe" Smith is also a juvenile success and a capable comedienne, as the audience quickly perceives.

Master Nelson, As a Street Urchin.

Thursday the Opera House will take up moving pictures again. two features heading the bill. The first will be "Rouges of Paris," in four parts. This picture will be acted by the Solax company, who have visited Newport several times within the past year to produce scenes to make their pictures a greater success. They have just finished a picture called "The Burning Ship" and have left her till the late summer. The other feature will be "The Bonds of Passion," a photo-play in three parts, including a sensational rescue of a baby, the fatal plunge of an automobile and other startling incidents.

GIVEN A SURPRISE PARTY.

Tuesday evening a surprise party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Dawley at their home on Broadway by several friends, who were well prepared for such an occasion Vocal and instrumental music and recitations were rendered by several of the guests. Miss Josephine Cummings gave piano selections, and there were games and dancing Parker's orchestra furnished the music. A buffet luncheon was served followed by several of the "old-fashioned" dances, including the "Virginia reel."

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The heavy rain during the night and early morning drew the frost to the surface of the ground and the drop in temperature which came just before noon made the streets and sidewalks icy and the traveling bad. This was especially so on the tar macadam roads, Narragansett avenue being almost impassable except for sharpened horses. One farmer with a light wagon loaded with grain solved the problem of going up the street by using blankets. The process of moving them made his progress slow, but he kept his horse on its feet

Mr T. A. H. Tefft of Shawmut, Mass., was guest of his father, Mr. E. N. Tefft, on Cole street Tuesday.

Tug Richmond is tied up at Ferry wharf for shelter.

Miss Clara Howland is at home from the State Normal School for the mid-winter vacation.

Mr L. D. Perkham has returned from a short visit to his daughter in New Jersey.

Mr. E Stewart is confined to his home on Clinton avenue by illness.

The Mandolin Club is arranging for a comedy to be given shortly, the proceeds to go toward fire alarm boxes when the new system is installed.

Four hundred bushels of mussels arrived Tuesday for the Jamestown Fish Company and are to be opened to supply bait.

CRANES DISPLACE BATS.

Outcome of Basket Ball Game Determines Lead in Employed Boys' League.

For the first time since the Employed Boys' League was started at the Young Men's Christain Association, the big lead by the Bats was passed Tuesday evening, when the Cranes by virtue of defeating the Bats in basket ball went into the coveted first place, the Bats going to second, while the Hawks are still a hopeless last. The Cranes at present have only a slight lead of seven points, gaining three Tuesday through attendance. The present standing has the Cranes first with 136 1-3 points, the Bats a close second with 129 1-3, while the Hawks have only 25 1-3.

In the relays the Cranes defeated their closest rivals, the Bats, and also out-sprinted the tail-end Hawks, while the Bats won over the Hawks. For best attendance the Cranes received three points, and the Bats one for second best. Each member secured in the membership campaign counts a point for the team persuading him to join, and Tuesday the Bats added four members, while the Cranes added two. The Hawks did not score either in membership, relays, basket ball or attendance.

The Hawks were easy for the Cranes in the first game of basket ball, the Cranes winning 16-1. Peterson was high scorer for the Cranes, Olivea also playing a good game, while Larson made the only point for his team. The line-up and summary:

Cranes.	Hawks.
Olivea, r. f.	l. g., Barker
Peterson, l. f.	r g., Larson
Russell, c.	c., Quill
Gerard, r. g.	l. f., Devlin
Bailey, Watson, l. g.	r. f., Ladyman

Score—Cranes 16, Hawks 1. Goals from floor—Peterson 4, Olivea 3, Russell. Goal from foul line—Larson. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

The outcome of the basket ball game between the Cranes and the Bats determined the leader in the league, as the teams were practically tied for first place when the game started. The Cranes finally won, 10-4, after a hard struggle all the way, both teams having many foul tries. Olivea at forward for the Cranes was the star, scoring seven of his team's points besides playing a fast blocking game. Thompson at centre did well for the Bats. The line-up and summary:

Cranes.	Bats.
Olivea, r. f.	l. g., Peckham
Peterson, l. f.	r. g., Sullivan
Russell, c.	c., Thompson
Jestings, r. g.	l. f., Hull
Dillon, l. g.	r. f., Holmes

Score—Cranes 10, Bats 4. Goals from floor—Olivea 3, Peterson, Thompson. Goals from foul line—Olivea, Peterson; Thompson, Peckham. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

The Hawks were easy victims for the Bats, being humbled without a score, 12-0. The Bats should have had a much larger record, but missed many easy tries for goals. Holmes, Hull and Peckham excelled for the Bats. The line-up and summary follow:

Bats	Hawks
Holmes, r. f.	l. g., Barker
Hall, l. f.	r. g., McGough
Peckham, c.	c., Quill
Sullivan, r. g.	l. f., Ladyman
Young, l. g.	r. f., Jestings

Score—Bats 12, Hawks 0. Goals from floor—Holmes 2, Hall 2, Peckham 2. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

This evening several more events in the league will be contested, the Bats having an excellent chance to regain first place.

A point each was awarded the Narragansetts and the Crows of the Pan-Athletic League for securing members during the day.

CANAL PLEASES ALL VISITORS.

Congressmen Impressed with Great Accomplishments on Panama Waterway.

New Banking Bill Expected to Work Out Satisfactorily—Senator Gallinger Always in Seat.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Every visitor to the Panama canal returns much impressed with the great work which the United States has accomplished. Perhaps it is because the stupendous achievement comes under the observation of the eye that such an impression is made, but it is a fact that the canal seems to be the biggest thing America has ever done. A great many big things have been accomplished by the United States in the past, but nowhere in such compact form and all within the vision of a person in a single day's journey as in case of the Panama canal.

Members of Congress took advantage of the holiday recess to visit the canal. Several of them had never been there before, and these returned enthusiastic about the big ditch. Among them was Senator Walsh of Montana, who said that nothing had quite so impressed him as the canal in its present condition. "It is still a matter of conjecture," he said, "as to when the canal will be completed. It depends upon how long the slides continue. But there can be no question as to the success of the enterprise. It is a mere question of removing the earth as it slides down. A time will come when it will stop sliding or when there will be no more earth to slide, and then the canal will be ready for use."

Senator Owen is confident that the new banking bill will work out satisfactorily. Naturally when a man has had as much to do with such an important piece of legislation as that which reforms and re-organizes the currency system of a nation he is anxious to see it work properly. It would be strange if the bill were found even near perfect during the first few months while it is being tried out, but the Oklahoma Senator does not believe that it will need to be amended in many particulars.

It has been almost 23 years since Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire took his seat in the Senate, and the interesting point about it is that he has occupied that seat continuously ever since. What I mean is that he has been in the Senate when it was in session. It would be interesting to have a complete record of the few roll calls that Gallinger has missed. This would not show his continuous performance, for there are many days when there are no roll calls, but the Granite Mountain man is there just the same.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona is not to be frightened by anything that is fired at him in the way of criticism. He stands his ground and "goes back" when Senators criticise his views. By striking out for himself and expressing his opinions rather freely he has encountered opposition on both sides of the political aisle. But he keeps going ahead, and he keeps Arizona in the limelight.

Reindeer have been bred so successfully in Alaska that Congressman La Follette of Washington now proposes to have a band of yaks purchased and distributed in that faraway region. The yaks will furnish wool, which will make clothing for the natives. Very forcibly is presented to our government from time to time its duty to the natives of Alaska. They never had any land to sell, as did the Indians, by which a fund could be created for their benefit, and it is incumbent upon Congress to make suitable provision for them.

Resolutions in the Senate calling for expenditures must be referred to the audit and control committee. One day such a resolution had been introduced, and there was considerable sparring about it when Senator Borah made this observation: "It makes no difference as to which committee this goes to first. If it is perfected in the first committee it will be re-perfected by the audit committee as long as the distinguished Senator from Mississippi, Mr. Williams, is chairman, because he entertains certain views in regard to state rights."

Sereno E. Payne of New York has never hesitated to express an opinion. So recently when an attempt was made to show that certain legislation passed years ago which a pending bill proposed to correct, was passed for the benefit of corporations Payne burst forth with the declaration that "this legislation is to correct a blunder of Congress. No one believes that it was inserted by corporations or by any intent. It was a blunder, and that is all there is to it." And then the bill was passed without further discussion.

INCOME TAX COLLECTORS

Treasury Instructions to Govern Official Duties and Regulations.

Treasury officials have begun the task of selecting internal revenue agents and inspectors who are to collect the income tax. There are more than 10,000 applications on file for the 400 jobs. The commissioner of internal revenue makes the appointments with the approval of Secretary McAdoo. In anticipation of the appointment of these collectors, the Treasury has issued instructions to govern them.

The duties of officers of this class are to ascertain and report the names of persons who in their opinion are liable to the income tax and who have failed to make return as required by law; to inquire into income tax returns where there is any suspicion that the returns made are erroneous, to examine the books and accounts of persons who have made the returns, for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting as to whether the law has been complied with, when so ordered by the agent in charge of the division to which they are assigned; to inquire into the manner in which income tax employes are discharging their official duties and to report those who have failed in this respect. For the purpose of securing such information as they may desire, they may visit the office of any state, county or municipal officer and for the general purpose of their employment may confer with any collector or deputy collector of internal revenue within the territory in which they are authorized to operate.

In the discharge of their official duties officers of this class, as well as officers of the internal revenue bureau, in making inquiries and investigations are to exercise sound discretion, treat all persons with due courtesy and, while acting firmly and courageously, to avoid all contention or controversy that would give just ground for complaint.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From Newport Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Newport, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mrs. Annie E. Hall, 15 Marsh St., Newport, R. I., says: "I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Hay's Drug Store for one of the family who complained for a long time of a nagging pain in his back and right hip. It bothered him when he was working and at night made him very nervous. Mornings, when he got up he was tired, too. His back was so lame and painful that it was hard for him to straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills were just what he needed and they made a great improvement in every way. I have just as much faith in Doan's Kidney Pills now, as I did when I publicly recommended them some years ago. We keep them in the house and use them whenever we need a kidney medicine."

CRANES DISPLACE BATS.

Outcome of Basket Ball Game Determines Lead in Employed Boys' League.

For the first time since the Employed Boys' League was started at the Young Men's Christain Association, the big lead by the Bats was passed Tuesday evening, when the Cranes by virtue of defeating the Bats in basket ball went into the coveted first place, the Bats going to second, while the Hawks are still a hopeless last. The Cranes at present have only a slight lead of seven points, gaining three Tuesday through attendance. The present standing has the Cranes first with 136 1-3 points, the Bats a close second with 129 1-3, while the Hawks have only 26 1-3.

In the relays the Cranes defeated their closest rivals, the Bats, and also out-sprinted the tail-end Hawks, while the Bats won over the Hawks. For best attendance the Cranes received three points, and the Bats one for second best. Each member secured in the membership campaign counts a point for the team persuading him to join, and Tuesday the Bats added four members, while the Cranes added two. The Hawks did not score either in membership, relays, basket ball or attendance.

The Hawks were easy for the Cranes in the first game of basket ball, the Cranes winning 16-1. Peterson was high scorer for the Cranes, Olivea also playing a good game, while Larson made the only point for his team. The line-up and summary:

Cranes.	Hawks.
Olivea, r. f.	l. g., Barker
Peterson, l. f.	r. g., Larson
Russell, c.	c., Quill
Gerard, r. g.	l. f., Devlin
Bailey, Watson, l. g.	r. f., Ladyman

Score—Cranes 16, Hawks 1. Goals from floor—Peterson 4, Olivea 3, Russell. Goal from foul line—Larson. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

The outcome of the basket ball game between the Cranes and the Bats determined the leader in the league, as the teams were practically tied for first place when the game started. The Cranes finally won, 10-4, after a hard struggle all the way, both teams having many foul tries. Olivea at forward for the Cranes was the star, scoring seven of his team's points besides playing a fast blocking game. Thompson at centre did well for the Bats. The line-up and summary:

Cranes.	Bats.
Olivea, r. f.	l. g., Peckham
Peterson, l. f.	r. g., Sullivan
Russell, c.	c., Thompson
Jestings, r. g.	l. f., Hull
Dillon, l. g.	r. f., Holmes

Score—Cranes 10, Bats 4. Goals from floor—Olivea 3, Peterson; Thompson. Goals from foul line—Olivea, Peterson; Thompson, Peckham. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

The Hawks were easy victims for the Bats, being humbled without a score, 12-0. The Bats should have had a much larger record, but missed many easy tries for goals. Holmes, Hull and Peckham excelled for the Bats. The line-up and summary follow:

Bats.	Hawks.
Holmes, r. f.	l. g., Barker
Hull, l. f.	r. g., McGaugh
Peckham, c.	c., Quill
Sullivan, r. g.	l. f., Ladyman
Young, l. g.	r. f., Jestings

Score—Bats 12, Hawks 0. Goals from floor—Holmes 2, Hull 2, Peckham 2. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

This evening several more events in the league will be contested, the Bats having an excellent chance to regain first place.

A point each was awarded the Narragansetts and the Crows of the Pan-Athletic League for securing members during the day.

CANAL PLEASES ALL VISITORS.

Congressmen Impressed with Great Accomplishments on Panama Waterway.

New Banking Bill Expected to Work Out Satisfactorily—Senator Gallinger Always in Seat.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Every visitor to the Panama canal returns much impressed with the great work which the United States has accomplished. Perhaps it is because the stupendous achievement comes under the observation of the eye that such an impression is made, but it is a fact that the canal seems to be the biggest thing America has ever done. A great many big things have been accomplished by the United States in the past, but nowhere in such compact form and all within the vision of a person in a single day's journey as in case of the Panama canal.

Members of Congress took advantage of the holiday recess to visit the canal. Several of them had never been there before, and these returned enthusiastic about the big ditch. Among them were Senator Walsh of Montana, who said that nothing had quite so impressed him as the canal in its present condition. "It is still a matter of conjecture" he said, "as to when the canal will be completed. It depends upon how long the slides continue. But there can be no question as to the success of the enterprise. It is a mere question of removing the earth as it slides down. A time will come when it will stop sliding or when there will be no more earth to slide, and then the canal will be ready for use."

Senator Owen is confident that the new banking bill will work out satisfactorily. Naturally when a man has had as much to do with such an important piece of legislation as that which reforms and re-organizes the currency system of a nation he is anxious to see it work properly. INCOME TAX COLLECTORS

Treasury Instructions to Govern Official Duties and Regulations.

Treasury officials have begun the task of selecting internal revenue agents and inspectors who are to collect the income tax. There are more than 10,000 applications on file for the 400 jobs. The commissioner of internal revenue makes the appointments with the approval of Secretary McAdoo. In anticipation of the appointment of these collectors, the Treasury has issued instructions to govern them.

The duties of officers of this class are to ascertain and report the names of persons who in their opinion are liable to the income tax and who have failed to make return as required by law; to inquire into income tax returns where there is any suspicion that the returns made are erroneous, to examine the books and accounts of persons who have made the returns, for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting as to whether the law has been complied with, when so ordered by the agent in charge of the division to which they are assigned; to inquire into the manner in which income tax employes are discharging their official duties and to report those who have failed in this respect. For the purpose of securing such information as they may desire, they may visit the office of any state, county or municipal officer and for the general purpose of their employment may confer with any collector or deputy collector of internal revenue within the territory in which they are authorized to operate.

In the discharge of their official duties officers of this class, as well as officers of the internal revenue bureau, in making inquiries and investigations are to exercise sound discretion, treat all persons with due courtesy and, while acting firmly and courageously, to avoid all contention or controversy that would give just ground for complaint.

REACHING DANGER POINT.

New Relations Between Parcel Post System and the Express Companies.

[Boston Transcript.]

There is frequently danger in sharp public practices. They are likely to be both confusing and oppressive, and this may be illustrated by the new relations between the parcel post system and the express companies. The latter have been important factors in the enormous business development and prosperity of this country. They have enabled it to strike a pace that would have been impossible without their aid. Their success has in the past made them indifferent to public opinion, perhaps. They have been charged with greed and arrogance and there was good ground for these animadversions. But the system has been one vital to our interests and the limit of regulation should be correction of its abuses, not destruction of its business. The new rates make radical reductions in many cases. The government has the long end of the lever in the parcel post system. It can play it against the companies, even if it had not the authority to enforce its rate rulings directly.

Perhaps our heads have been turned somewhat by the rather unexpected success of this system, and its indefinite expansion is predicted. It has been taking on new responsibilities in the limits set to weight that can be carried, and is in danger of passing far beyond the point where packages can be conveniently or economically handled for the government can hardly expect to indefinitely get a transportation rate from the railroads that is next to negligible. It has no stockholders to pay and it does not attempt to render the same kind of service as that given by the express companies.

REBEL FORCES TO MASS AT TORREON.

Already Occupying Suburbs, Within Striking Distance.

Federals in Hopes of Dealing Them a Decisive Blow.

CHIHUAHUA, Jan. 21.—Orders were issued by Francisco Villa today for a concentration of rebel forces along the railroad north of Torreon. The rebels scattered in the state of Durango and Coahuila, and the garrison at Juarez, were ordered to join those at Chihuahua, Jiminez and Santa Rosalia with a view of preparing a formidable front in the projected rebel advance southward.

Evidences have multiplied that the Federals at Torreon are determined, if possible, to check the rebellion at that point. Torreon is now the northernmost Federal stronghold in the heart of the republic. The Federals hold that if the revolutionary movement from the north is to be stopped at all it must be halted there, and the loss of Torreon to the rebels would leave the way open for Villa's advance to Saltillo, Monterey, San Luis Potosi, and cities near Mexico City. Consequently, according to reports received here, the Federals are drawing all their available soldiers toward Torreon in the hope of dealing a decisive blow to the rebels.

General Villa said he was not inclined to believe that the Federals would evacuate Torreon. He, therefore, ordered to be concentrated all rebels who might be spared from the surrounding country. Within 10 days, he said, his available army for the campaign would number 15,000 well equipped soldiers. General Villa himself expects to lead the campaign, but not until he has first visited Juarez, for which place he planned to leave today.

The rebels are already within striking distance of Torreon. They occupy Lerado and Gomez Palacio, important suburbs. The overthrow of Torreon by the rebels would leave two routes open to Mexico City. One will be directly southward through Zacatecas and Agua Calientes. The other would be eastward through Saltillo and Monterey and then southward through San Luis Potosi.

As an indication of his intention to head his troops, and also as an instance of the summary manner in which he appoints important officials, General Villa, while preparing to take the train for Juarez, turned to General Manuel Chao in the state palace and said: "General Chao, you are now governor of the state of Chihuahua, and I leave everything in your hands while I go at the head of my troops to dethrone the usurper of our liberties."

IMMIGRATION EXHIBITS.

Moving Pictures to be a Feature at Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Extensive preparations are being made by the bureau of immigration of the Department of Labor to have a large and instructive exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. A committee of officials of the bureau has been appointed and is now engaged in mapping out plans for exhibits. One objectionable feature about the government exhibits at this exposition is the fact that they will not be grouped under any one roof, but will be scattered about the grounds in various buildings. For instance, the exhibit of the bureau of immigration will be in the sociology building.

One of the most interesting exhibits will be "a trip through Ellis Island, N. Y.," the largest immigration station in the United States. Plans are now being made to have moving pictures for this exhibit taken at the Ellis Island station, and a competent lecturer will be at the exposition to carry the audiences on their trips through the island. It also is proposed to have a series of pictures showing the types of immigrants which come to the United States; then there will be a contrivance which will give in three minutes all the salient facts about immigration. There will be six pages, each page to contain six short, concise sentences telling some interesting fact about immigration, and each page will remain in view 30 seconds.

But those who visit the exposition and are particularly interested in immigration will be given a chance to visit the United States immigration station at San Francisco. This station is now on Angel island, but there is a proposition on foot to have it transferred to Alcatraz island, where the United States Army barracks are located. If the immigration authorities are successful in having the station transferred it will be much nearer the exposition and it is proposed then to have boats to run from the exposition landings to the immigration station.

It is proposed to give little printed matter away at the immigration exhibit. It is argued that when the people are given much printed matter at these expositions they get tired of carrying it around and throw it away on the exposition grounds. Persons who are particularly interested in the exhibits and desire printed matter giving more facts are to leave their names and the information will be mailed to them.

Commissioner General Caminetti of the bureau of immigration is enthusiastic about the tentative plans for the exhibit of his bureau and is aiding his committee in every way possible. He has taken a personal interest in the preparation of the immigration exhibit, and he is desirous of having those who attend the exposition to leave with an excellent idea of the immigration problems of the country.

The bureau is hampered somewhat by lack of funds, Congress having appropriated only $500,000 to prepare the entire government exhibit at the exposition. This is to be divided up between all of the government departments and independent bureaus. However much of the special apparatus to be used at the exposition is to be prepared by the immigration authorities themselves, thus getting a large exhibition out of the very small amount allowed to this bureau.

FOR GOVERNMENT PLANT.

Secretary Daniels Would Have Navy Independent of Manufacturers.

It would be a profitable investment for the government, through the erection of government plants, to make the navy absolutely independent of private manufacturers in every class of supplies where this could be done. In the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels gave his views on government manufacture versus trust control of naval supplies during a discussion of this question which followed the publication of the facts about the armor plate trade war. The Secretary believes that combinations exist among the private manufacturers who are bidding on naval contracts in a great many cases. The evil is by no means limited to the armor plate and projectile manufacturers.

The one way of correcting this condition, he thinks, is to construct government plants. He does not seek by this course to rob the private manufacturers of their present business. He realizes the benefits of private sources of supply in case of emergency. But by having plants capable of producing the supplies the government can force the manufacturers down to satisfactory and reasonable prices and this can be done only in this way.

Secretary Daniels views are strikingly outlined in one statement. "It would make the best investment the government has ever had if it built an armor plant—even if the doors were never unlocked."

This statement was made after Secretary Daniels had been asked whether, in his opinion, it was a wise policy to manufacture all supplies in government plants and rob the private manufacturers of the business. He said that he did not want to rob any one of business. He then explained that if he had a government armor plate plant and knew at what price he could manufacture armor plate and projectiles and a private manufacturer offered to do the work at a reasonable price he would most certainly favor the manufacturer an order.

"Do you think it would be profitable to invest $12,000,000 in a government plant and the only operate it at half capacity?"

Secretary Daniels explained that it was not a question of the work the government actually did, but rather of its holding the means to do it, if it could not get fair treatment outside.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. [illegible]—Buyers went into the market confidently at the opening [illegible] and in most instances higher prices were quoted. Trading was much more active, with many transactions in large blocks among the leaders. The market was freed from the restraint of the last few days of waiting for President Wilson's message on trust questions, and speculators seized the opportunity for resuming aggressive operations on the long side. Gains of one to two points were made in Pullman, Mexican Petroleum, Bethlehem Steel, Can, Texas Company, Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Noon—Improving tendencies were evident today, with the trust interest an active factor in the advance. Buying was largely speculative although there was an enlarged volume of commission house business. The movement was wider, taking in a large variety of low-priced shares as well as the standard issues. Special stocks were influenced by favorable trade news. This was particularly true of the steel and railroad equipment groups. Prices were bid up rapidly here and there where an overcrowded short interest was compelled to retreat. Many new high prices for the movement were reached. Bonds were strong. Call money steady at 2 per cent. Mercantile paper 4¼ @ 5. Exchanges, $382,363,818; balances $18,046,787.

REACHING DANGER POINT.

Now Relations Between Parcel Post System and the Express Companies.

[Boston Transcript.]

There is frequently danger in sharp public practices. They are likely to be both confusing and oppressive, and this may be illustrated by the new relations between the parcel post system and the express companies. The latter have been important factors in the enormous business development and prosperity of this country. They have enabled it to strike a pace that would have been impossible without their aid. Their success has in the past made them indifferent to public opinion, perhaps. They have been charged with greed and arrogance and there was good ground for these animadversions. But the system has been one vital to our interests and the limit of regulation should be correction of its abuses, not destruction of its business. The new rates make radical reductions in many cases. The government has the long end of the lever in the parcel post system. It can play it against the companies, even if it had not the authority to enforce its rate rulings directly.

Perhaps our heads have been turned somewhat by the rather unexpected success of this system, and its indefinite expansion is predicted. It has been taking on new responsibilities in the limits set to the weight that can be carried, and is in danger of passing far beyond the point where packages can be conveniently or economically handled, for the government can hardly expect to indefinitely get a transportation rate from the railroads that is next to negligible. It has no stockholders to pay and it does not attempt to render the same kind of service as that given by the express companies.

REBEL FORCES TO MASS AT TORREON.

Already Occupying Suburbs, Within Striking Distance.

Federals in Hopes of Dealing Them a Decisive Blow.

CHIHUAHUA, Jan. 21.—Orders were issued by Francisco Villa today for a concentration of rebel forces along the railroad north of Torreon. The rebels scattered in the state of Durango and Coahuila, and the garrison in Juarez, were ordered to join those at Chihuahua, Jiminez and Santa Rosalia with a view of preparing a formidable front in the projected rebel advance southward.

Evidences have multiplied that the Federals at Torreon are determined, if possible, to check the rebellion at that point. Torreon is now the northernmost Federal stronghold in the heart of the republic. The Federals hold that if the revolutionary movement from the north is to be stopped at all it must be halted there, and the loss of Torreon to the rebels would leave the way open for Villa's advance to Saltillo, Monterey, San Luis Potosi and cities near Mexico City. Consequently, according to reports received here, the Federals are drawing all their available soldiers toward Torreon in the hope of dealing a decisive blow to the rebels.

General Villa said he was not inclined to believe that the Federals would evacuate Torreon. He, therefore, ordered to be concentrated all rebels who might be spared from the surrounding country. Within 10 days, he said, his available army for the campaign would number 15,000 well equipped soldiers General Villa himself expects to lead the campaign, but not until he has first visited Juarez, for which place he planned to leave today.

The rebels are already within striking distance of Torreon. They occupy Lerado and Gomez Palacio, important suburbs. The overthrow of Torreon by the rebels would leave two routes open to Mexico City. One will be directy southward through Zacatecas and Agua Calientes. The other would be eastward through Saltillo and Monterey and then southward through San Luis Potosi.

As an indication of his intention to head his troops, and also as an instance of the summary manner in which he appoints important officials, General Villa, while preparing to take the train for Juarez, turned to General Manuel Chao in the state palace and said: "General Chao, you are now governor of the state of Chihuahua, and I leave everything in your hands while I go at the head of my troops to dethrone the usurper of our liberties."

IMMIGRATION EXHIBITS.

Moving Pictures to be a Feature at Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Extensive preparations are being made by the bureau of immigration of the Department of Labor to have a large and instructive exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. A committee of officials of the bureau has been appointed and is now engaged in mapping out plans for exhibits. One objectionable feature about the government exhibits at this exposition is the fact that they will not be grouped under any one roof, but will be scattered about the grounds in various buildings. For instance, the exhibit of the bureau of immigration will be in the sociology building.

One of the most interesting exhibits will be "a trip through Ellis Island, N. Y.," the largest immigration station in the United States. Plans are now being made to have moving pictures for this exhibit taken at the Ellis Island station, and a competent lecturer will be at the exposition to carry the audiences on their trips through the island. It also is proposed to have a series of pictures showing the types of immigrants which come to the United States; then there will be a contrivance which will give in three minutes all the salient facts about immigration. There will be six pages, each page to contain six short, concise sentences telling some interesting fact about immigration, and each page will remain in view 30 seconds.

But those who visit the exposition and are particularly interested in immigration will be given a chance to visit the United States immigration station at San Francisco. This station is now on Angel Island, but there is a proposition on foot to have it transferred to Alcatraz island, where the United States Army barracks are located. If the immigration authorities are successful in having the station transferred it will be much nearer the exposition and it is proposed then to have boats to run from the exposition landings to the immigration station.

It is proposed to give little printed matter away at the immigration exhibit. It is argued that when the people are given much printed matter at these expositions they get tired of carrying it around and throw it away on the exposition grounds. Persons who are particularly interested in the exhibits and desire printed matter giving more facts are to leave their names and the information will be mailed to them.

Commissioner General Caminetti of the bureau of immigration is enthusiastic about the tentative plans for the exhibit of his bureau and is aiding his committee in every way possible. He has taken a personal interest in the preparation of the immigration exhibit, and he is desirous of having those who attend the exposition to leave with an excellent idea of the immigration problems of the country.

The bureau is hampered somewhat by lack of funds, Congress having appropriated only $500,000 to prepare the entire government exhibit at the exposition. This is to be divided up between all of the government departments and independent bureaus. However much of the special apparatus to be used at the exposition is to be prepared by the immigration authorities themselves, thus getting a large exhibition out of the very small amount allowed to this bureau.

FOR GOVERNMENT PLANT.

Secretary Daniels Would Have Navy Independent of Manufacturers.

It would be a profitable investment for the government, through the erection of government plants, to make the navy absolutely independent of private manufacturers in every class of supplies where this could be done. In the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Daniels gave his views on government manufacture versus trust control of naval supplies during a discussion of this question which followed the publication of the facts about the armor plate trade war. The Secretary believes that combinations exist among the private manufacturers who are bidding on naval contracts in a great many cases. The evil is by no means limited to the armor plate and projectile manufacturers.

The one way of correcting this condition, he thinks, is to construct government plants. He does not seek by this course to rob the private manufacturers of their present business. He realizes the benefits of private sources of supply in case of emergency. But by having plants capable of producing the supplies the government can force the manufacturers down to satisfactory and reasonable prices and this can be done only in this way.

Secretary Daniels views are strikingly outlined in one statement: "It would make the best investment the government has ever had if it built an armor plant—even if the doors were never unlocked."

This statement was made after Secretary Daniels had been asked whether, in his opinion, it was a wise policy to manufacture all supplies in government plants and rob the private manufacturers of the business. He said that he did not want to rob any one of business. He then explained that if he had a government armor plate plant and knew at what price he could manufacture armor plate and projectiles and a private manufacturer offered to do the work at a reasonable price he would most certainly favor the manufacturer an order.

"Do you think it would be profitable to invest $12,000,000 in a government plant and the only operate it at half capacity?"

Secretary Daniels explained that it was not a question of the work the government actually did, but rather of its holding the means to do it, if it could not get fair treatment outside.

10:45—Buyers went into the market confidently at the opening today and in most instances higher prices were quoted. Trading was much more active, with many transactions in large blocks among the leaders. The market was freed from the restraint of the last few days of waiting for President Wilson's message on trust questions, and speculators seized the opportunity for resuming aggressive operations on the long side. Gains of one to two points were made in Pullman, Mexican Petroleum, Bethlehem Steel, Can, Texas Company, Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Noon—Improving tendencies were evident today, with the short interest an active factor in the advance. Buying was largely speculative, although there was an enlarged volume of commission house business. The movement was wider, taking in a large variety of low-priced shares as well as the standard issues. Special stocks were influenced by favorable trade news. This was particularly true of the steel and railroad equipment groups. Prices were bid up rapidly here and there, where an overcrowded short interest was compelled to retreat. Many new high prices for the movement were reached. Bonds were strong. Call money steady at 2 per cent. Mercantile paper 4½ @ 5. Exchanges, $382,383,618; balances, $18,046,787.

CRANES DISPLACE BATS.

Outcome of Basket Ball Game Determines Lead in Employed Boys' League.

For the first time since the Employed Boys' League was started at the Young Men's Chrisiain Association, the big lead by the Bats was passed Tuesday evening, when the Cranes by virtue of defeating the Bats in basket ball went into the coveted first place, the Bats going to second, while the Hawks are still a hopeless last. The Cranes at present have only a slight lead of seven points, gaining three Tuesday through attendance. The present standing has the Cranes first with 136 1-3 points, the Bats a close second with 129 1-3, while the Hawks have only 26 1-3.

In the relays the Cranes defeated their closest rivals, the Bats, and also out-sprinted the tail-end Hawks, while the Bats won over the Hawks. For best attendance the Cranes received three points, and the Bats one for second best Each member secured in the membership campaign counts a point for the team persuading him to join, and Tuesday the Bats added four members, while the Cranes added two. The Hawks did not score either in membership, relays, basket ball or attendance.

The Hawks were easy for the Cranes in the first game of basket ball, the Cranes winning 16-1. Peterson was high scorer for the Cranes, Olivea also playing a good game, while Larson made the only point for his team. The line-up and summary:

Cranes.	Hawks.
Olivea, r. f.	l. g., Barker
Peterson, l. f.	r g., Larson
Russell, c	c., Quill
Gerard, r. g.	l. f., Devlin
Bailey, Watson, l. g.	r. f., Ladyman

Score—Cranes 16, Hawks 1. Goals from floor—Peterson 4, Olivea 3, Russell. Goal from foul line—Larson. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

The outcome of the basket ball game between the Cranes and the Bats determined the leader in the league, as the teams were practically tied for first place when the game started. The Cranes finally won, 10-4, after a hard struggle all the way, both teams having many foul tries. Olivea at forward for the Cranes was the star, scoring seven of his team's points besides playing a fast blocking game. Thompson at centre did well for the Bats. The line-up and summary:

Cranes.	Bats.
Olivea, r f.	l. g., Peckham
Peterson, l. f.	r. g., Sullivan
Russell, c.	c., Thompson
Jestings, r. g.	l. f., Hull
Dillon, l g.	r. f., Holmes

Score—Cranes 10, Bats 4 Goals from floor—Olivea 3, Peterson; Thompson. Goals from foul line—Olivea, Peterson, Thompson, Peckham, Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

The Hawks were easy victims for the Bats, being humbled without a score, 12-0 The Bats should have had a much larger record, but missed many easy tries for goals. Holmes, Hull and Peckham excelled for the Bats. The line-up and summary follow:

Bats.	Hawks.
Holmes, r. f.	l g., Barker
Hull, l. f.	r g., McGough
Peckham, c.	c., Quill
Sullivan, r. g.	l. f., Ladyman
Young, l. g.	r f., Jestings

Score—Bats 12, Hawks 0. Goals from floor—Holmes 2, Hull 2, Peckham 2. Referee—Stokes. Scorer—Bailey. Timer—Slocum. Time—10-minute halves.

This evening several more events in the league will be contested, the Bats having an excellent chance to regain first place.

A point each was awarded the Narragansetts and the Crows of the Pan-Athletic League for securing members during the day.

CANAL PLEASES ALL VISITORS.

Congressmen Impressed with Great Accomplishments on Panama Waterway.

New Banking Bill Expected to Work Out Satisfactorily—Senator Gallinger Always in Seat.

[Washington correspondence of the News]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Every visitor to the Panama canal returns much impressed with the great work which the United States has accomplished. Perhaps it is because the stupendous achievement comes under the observation of the eye that such an impression is made, but it is a fact that the canal seems to be the biggest thing America has ever done. A great many big things have been accomplished by the United States in the past, but nowhere in such compact form and all within the vision of a person in a single day's journey as in case of the Panama canal.

Members of Congress took advantage of the holiday recess to visit the canal. Several of them had never been there before, and these returned enthusiastic about the big ditch Among them was Senator Walsh of Montana, who said that nothing had quite so impressed him as the canal in its present condition "It is still a matter of conjecture" he said, "as to when the canal will be completed It depends upon how long the slides continue. But there can be no question as to the success of the enterprise. It is a mere question of removing the earth as it slides down. A time will come when it will stop sliding or when there will be no more earth to side, and then the canal will be ready for use."

Senator Owen is confident that the new banking bill will work out satisfactorily Naturally when a man has had as much to do with such an important piece of legislation as that which reforms and re-organizes the currency system of a nation he is anxious to see it work properly. It would be strange if the bill were found even near perfect during the first few months while it is being tried out, but the Oklahoma Senator does not believe that it will need to be amended in many particulars.

It has been almost 23 years since Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire took his seat in the Senate, and the interesting point about it is that he has occupied that seat continuously ever since. What I mean is that he has been in the Senate when it was in session It would be interesting to have a complete record of the few roll calls that Gallinger has missed. This would not show his continuous performance, for there are many days when there are no roll calls, but the Granite Mountain man is there just the same.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona is not to be frightened by anything that is fired at him in the way of criticism. He stands his ground and "goes back" when Senators criticise his views. By striking out for himself and expressing his opinions rather freely he has encountered opposition on both sides of the political aisle But he keeps going ahead, and he keeps Arizona in the limelight

Reindeer have been bred so successfully in Alaska that Congressman La Follette of Washington now proposes to have a band of yaks purchased and distributed in that faraway region The yaks will furnish wool, which will make clothing for the natives. Very forcibly is presented to our government from time to time its duty to the natives of Alaska They never had any land to sell as did the Indians, by which a fund could be created for their benfit and it is incumbent upon Congress to make suitable provision for them.

Resolutions in the Senate calling for expenditures must be referred to the audit and control committee. One day such a resolution had been introduced, and there was considerable sparring about it when Senator Borah made this observation "It makes no difference as to which committee this goes to first If it is perfected in the first, committee it will be re-perfected by the audit committee as long as the distinguished Senator from Mississippi, Mr Williams, is chairman, because he entertains certain views in regard to state rights"

Sereno E Payne of New York has never hesitated to express an opinion so recently when an attempt was made to show that certain legislation passed years ago which a pending bill proposed to correct, was passed for the benefit of corporations Payne burst forth with the declaration that "this legislation is to correct a blunder of Congress No one believes that it was inspired by corporations or by any intent It was a blunder, and that is all there is to it." And then the bill was passed without further discussion

Treasury Instructions to Govern Official Duties and Regulations.

Treasury officials have begun the task of selecting internal revenue agents and inspectors who are to collect the income tax. here are more than 10,000 applications on file for the 400 jobs. The commissioner of internal revenue makes the appointments with the approval of Secretary McAdoo. In anticipation of the appointment of these collectors, the Treasury has issued instructions to govern them.

The duties of officers of this class are to ascertain and report the names of persons who in their opinion are liable to the income tax and who have failed to make return as required by law: to inquire into income tax returns where there is any suspicion that the returns made are erroneous, to examine the books and accounts of persons who have made the returns, for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting as to whether the law has been complied with, when so ordered by the agent in charge of the division to which they are assigned; to inquire into the manner in which income tax employes are discharging their official duties and to report those who have failed in this respect. For the purpose of securing such information as they may desire, they may visit the office of any state, county or municipal officer and for the general purpose of their employment may confer with any collector or deputy collector of internal revenue within the territory in which they are authorized to operate.

In the discharge of their official duties officers of this class, as well as officers of the internal revenue bureau, in making inquiries and investigations are to exercise sound discretion, treat all persons with due courtesy and, while acting firmly and courageously, to avoid all contention or controversy that would give just ground for complaint.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From Newport Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Newport, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mrs Annie E Hall, 15 Marsh St., Newport, R. I., says: "I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Hay's Drug Store for one of the family who complained for a long time of a nagging pain in his back and right hip. It bothered him when he was working and at night made him very nervous. Mornings, when he got up he was tired, too. His back was so lame and painful that it was hard for him to straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills were just what he needed and they made a great improvement in every way. I have just as much faith in Doan's Kidney Pills now, as I did when I publicly recommended them some years ago. We keep them in the house and use them whenever we need a kidney medicine."

"Much Ado About Nothing" Capitally Read at the Unity Club.

At the Unity Club Tuesday evening "Much Ado About Nothing" was capitally read under the management of Dr. A. F. Squire, Miss E. T. Muenchinger acting as prompter. The play was given in six acts.

The leading roles of Benedick, a young lord of Padua, and Beatrice, niece to Leonato, were taken respectively by Professor Thomas Crosby, Jr., honorary life member of the club, and Miss Lillian Maher. Other important parts of Don Pedro, Prince of Arragon; Don Juan, his brother; Claudio, a young lord of Florence; Leonato, governor of Messina, where the scene of the play is laid; Antonio, his brother; Hero, daughter to Leonato; Balthazar, attendant on Don Pedro, and Friar Francis were well taken by Mr. A. O'D. Taylor, Mr. W. Norman Sayer, Mr. A. C. Sherman, Dr. A. F. Squire, Mr. C. E. Morrison and Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Luther.

Minor roles—Conrado and Borachio, followers of Don John; Dogberry, constable; Verges, a head borough; two members of the watch, and Margaret and Ursula, gentlewomen attending on Hero were in the hands of Mr. W. H. Holt, Mr. C. R. Safford, Mr. R. W. Peckham, Mr. F. W. Johnstone, Mr. H. S. Wheeler, Mr. L. B. Plummer, Mrs. R. W. Peckham and Miss L. C. Heard.

In the second act Dr. Luther sang "Sigh no more, ladies, sigh no more." Mrs. Luther accompanying. Special notice might be made of the work of Professor Crosby Miss Maher, Mrs. Luther, Dr. Squire, Mr. Sherman Mr. Taylor, who were largely responsible for the success of the play. Professor Crosby was exceedingly happy in his scenes with Miss Maher, while Dr. Squire was particularly effective in his grief over the reported disgrace and death of his daughter.

COMMITTEE PROBLEMS.

Objection to Comfort Stations—Fire Department Re-Organization Difficult.

The Park Commission is asking for a considerable increase in its appropriation this year, partially for comfort stations at Aquidneck, Morton and Battery parks. The sub-committee of the Committee of Twenty-Five, in hearing the commission's views recently, also heard some other things about public comfort stations. A member had been in the way of observing the station on the Mall, and as a result of these observations it is understood said emphatically that he did not approve similar stations for Battery or Morton parks, unless they are to be policed at all times. However much may be the need of such stations, it would seem from the tale told the committee that unless there is a very extensive use of them there is danger that they may become vicious places.

Tuesday evening the sub-committee on fire department held a long meeting. Dr. Beck spoke for two hours on details of his observations, and Chief Kirwin was also present. Perhaps the committee may recommend something in a way of a saving, but the members seem to feel that no real saving can be effected without a radical re-organization of the department. A question has been raised if this committee is authorized to plan any such thing; and it is doubtful whether it will be possible to develop a plan within the time at command if the report is to be submitted with the others. The interests working for the retention if the department as it is will be well pleased if the committee reports that the problem is too great to be settled at this time. The effort is to secure another appropriation substantially as in recent years, and then if a pumper is purchased to organize a new permanent company, at a cost of at least $6,000 a year additional.

TEAM NO. 6 WINS TWO STRINGS.

BROWN MEN ENTERTAIN.

Rev. Franklin G. McKeever Heads List of Officers for Newport Alumni.

Addresses by President Faunce, Professors Burgess and Greene and a Round-Table Talk.

The Newport alumni of Brown University for the past 25 years have gathered annually to renew their college affiliations, to entertain the president or some other representative of the university and to entertain other guests from among the citizens of Newport. These annual gatherings have always been of an especially enjoyable and inspiring nature and while the Brown men here have been comparatively few, in number, their annual dinners have become quite noted among the many alumni gatherings held throughout the country each year.

Tuesday evening the annual meeting was held at the Muenchinger cottage on Whitfield court and the Association had among its guests Rev. Dr. William H. P. Faunce, president of the university; Professor John W. Burgess, emeritus dean of the faculty of political science of Columbia College, and Professor John F. Greene of the department of Romance languages and literature at Brown.

The members and their guests met at 7:30 and for half an hour held an informal reception, followed by a brief business meeting at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., '81.

Vice Presidents—Dr. John A. Young, M. D., 1900; A. Livingston Mason, '71.

Secretary and Treasurer—Alfred G. Langley, '76.

Executive Committee—Fred M. Hammett, '80; William R. Harvey, '01; Clifton B. Ward, '10.

The president and secretary were made a committee to convey to Dr. C. F. Barker, one of the older members, the regrets of the Association because of his enforced absence, congratulations upon his progress toward recovery and best wishes for his early restoration to health.

Then followed the dinner, for which one long table with branching ends was set, decorated with potted plants and silver candelabra with shades appropriately of brown and white. An excellent menu was well served by Muenchinger, after the Divine blessing had been asked by Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., the oldest of the Brown alumni in Newport. Dr. Clarence A. Carr, the retiring president, presided and after extending a hearty welcome to the guests, spoke feelingly of the loss to the university in the recent death of Professor Winslow Upton.

The first address was by President Faunce, who spoke briefly of his recent trip around the world and the many interesting facts which he learned while in eastern countries, with special reference to the advancement in education being made in China. He then turned in his characteristic manner to the affairs of the university, speaking especially of the marked change in the past few years in the habits of the students and their earnestness in their work. Mention was made of the steady advance in the study of humanities, the more intimate relations between the professors and the students in their daily work and the unison in the conduct of the various activities of the college.

Professor Burgess spoke somewhat at length on the disadvantages of government universities, and Professor Greene gave an interesting informal talk on the general character of the present-day students and their work.

Then followed an informal round-table talk, in which many of those present asked questions which were answered by President Faunce and Professor Greene, giving further expansion to their more formal addresses and enlightening all with a clearer insight into the p resntstuatshewo gnt sight into the present status of education and the generally improved relations between students and teachers.

It was nearly midnight when the assemblage separated and all felt they had passed an enjoyable and profitable evening.

The members present were Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., '66; A. Livingston Mason, '71; Alfred G. Langley, '76; William Paine Sheffield, '77; William P. Buffum, '79; Fred M. Hammett, '80; Benjamin F. Thurston, '80; Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., '81; Rev. John B. Diman, '85; Dr. Clarence A. Carr, '87; William R. Harvey, '01; Alan R. Wheeler, '01; Rev. George A. Hines, '06; Edward V. Ross, '07; Clifton B. Ward, '10; William D. Goddard, ex-'04; John H. Greene Jr., ex-'14, and Rev. William Safford Jones, honorary member.

The guests of the Association and of members were President Faunce and Professor Greene of Brown University, Professor John W. Burgess, Rev. W. F. B. Jackson, Herbert W. Lull, Frank M. Greenlaw, Colonel John C. Seabury, Colonel Edward A. Sherman and B. Lloyd Rooney, Lehigh, '13.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION GUEST NIGHT.

Thursday being "guest night" in the University Extension series of lectures, an unusually large audience is anticipated. Mr. Holborn is especially interested in this feature, which he has never known to be introduced in England. His special topic will be "Homer and the Excavations on the Site of Troy," and though the lecture will begin at 8 o'clock, as last week, Mr. Holborn will not be obliged to take the train. This will give opportunity for possible questions and to meet the speaker informally.

DEATH OF MRS. PAUL SULLIVAN.

News was received here Tuesday of the death, at her home in Albany, of Elizabeth McManus, wife of Mr. Paul Sullivan, formerly of this city. She was known by a large number of people, having lived here after her marriage, later residing in Providence and visiting here frequently, and more recently removing to Albany, where she is survived by a mother and brother. Besides her husband, she leaves two children, a son 17 years old and a daughter nine. The funeral took place in Albany.

BOARD OF TRADE ACTIVITIES.

President Titus Outlines Aims of the Body and Reviews Its Work.

Report of Committee Opposing Charter Revision Approved and Large Number of Members Elected.

The Board of Trade meeting Tuesday evening was rather a busy one. President Titus presented his annual report, which was of considerable length; the special committee made its report on charter revision, and there was the largest list of candidates for election to membership known since the institution of the organization, 39 of the applicants being elected.

The president's report was as follows:

Gentlemen:

Since, with the close of this meeting, there will pass into history the first year's endeavors of the Newport Board of Trade under its present organization, I feel that I may claim your indulgence long enough to briefly review the results of your year's effort and touch upon matters which the year's experience has clearly shown to be a part of our organization's work.

One year ago, when we fell heir to the rights and privileges granted under the old charter of the Newport Board of Trade, which had lain dormant so many years, and assumed the responsibility of carrying out its purposes, we faced at once a multitude of the city's needs, each bearing down upon us with seemingly equal force, and I doubt if any found opportunity to consider seriously the reasons for being of the organization itself; but fell at once to the task of solving the problems which faced us, regardless of their co-relation, or the peculiar claims which they had to the consideration of such a body as this. With this in mind we can, perhaps, forgive the mistakes of the past, but after carefully considering the duty which a commercial organization owes to the community in which it exists, we cannot condone any neglect of that duty in the future.

Let us for a moment, then, consider why such an organization has a right to exist; or, better, why every town and city should demand that such an organization be in its midst. It is because, in a word, if it lives up to its duties, it is the most potent force in a community for progress, and its proper duties are to do anything and everything necessary for and incident to the upbuilding and better building of the city and its environs—not only to make the city grow, but to make it a better, a more sanitary and a more enjoyable place in which to live. Its province or field of work reaches out into every branch, and takes cognizance of every phase of the city's life—the commercial interest, the professional interest, the government of the city, the social side of the city's life, where it touches the question of public morals and health. All of these, and in fact every channel of activity, comes properly under its practiced eye.

It must, then, first of all, bring together all of the representative elements of the entire community into a compact body, working together enthusiastically and determinedly for the community uplift. It must arouse the citizenry from their old-time lethargy to a quickened interest, and always preach a sane, safe and sound spiritedness and civic pride. Its motto must always be: "If it's good for the community, let's have it." It must drive into the minds of those who do not see it, that whatever helps the city as a whole has a like beneficial effect on every individual within its boundaries.

To the government of the city it owes a duty which it cannot neglect, despite the protestations of that class of politicians which knows its powers must decline when the business interests of the community cast their microscopic eyes of investigation upon its manoeuvres. Every effort should be made to work with the city's administration in an amicable way; but if that is not possible, it is not within the province of such a commercial organization to withdraw; to the contrary, it becomes plainly its duty to continue its interest for the accomplishment of such things as are needful for the city's progress. Its rights can not be questioned. Its members represent the business interests of the community; they are its taxpayers; its business men, and a city's business men make the city habitable. No city can run without them. They are vital and so they have the first moral right to speak in the control and management of the city's affairs. Nor can they be accused of dabbling in politics, without the admission that the city's business is a matter of politics, and this cannot be if a city would grow in the right direction.

It is the duty of such an organization to interest itself in all legislative matters which may have an effect upon its city. The unselfish democracy of a commercial organization is needed to keep its finger on the pulse of the whole body politic; but in the consideration of all legislative matters great care should be observed that the rights and privileges belonging to every citizen under our form of government be conserved, and that the administration of the city's affairs may never fall into the hands of those who would misuse or abuse the powers delegated to them.

A commercial organization or board of trade should stand in any community as the highest type of efficiency. Its own business should be prosecuted with that vigor and despatch which characterizes the most successful known business enterprises.

In short, the duty of such a board is to do any and all things necessary to bring about a permanent and substantial development of a city, and that duty should be performed on an impartial, unselfish, non-political basis and in a wise and safe manner.

During the past year your body has acted upon the following matters in order.

1—A new passenger depot.
2—Trade at home.
3—Credit bureau.
4—Dumping of refuse in Narragansett bay.
5—Better train service.
6—Revision of city charter.
7—City publicity.
8—Bureau of information.
9—Co-operation with other bodies to promote city's welfare.
10—Public reception and dinner to ex-Senator Wetmore.
11—Disposition of Lead Works property.
12—New hotel.
13—Congestion of street railway traffic.
14—Perry Day celebration.
15—Public market.
16—Entertainment of House committee on naval affairs.
17—Establishment of naval base in Narragansett bay.
18—Earlier morning mail service.
19—Better and more uniform type of public buildings.
20—Sticker seals.
21—Relief from congestion at freight shed.
22—Relief from ice situation.
23—Better express service and more reasonable rates.
24—Protests against removal of Constellation.
25—Co-operation with Fall River Board of Trade for better train service.
26—Re-instatement of 7:13 train to Boston.
27—Widening of Thames street.
28—Widening of Bath road.
29—Booklet to be published by railroad.
30—Better street lighting.
31—Better fire protection in business district.
32—Street Railway transfers.
33—Six tickets for 25 cents on the street railway.
34—Better gas service.
35—Dangerous turn at Bailey's beach.
36—Dangerous turn on Harrison avenue near Clarke estate.
37—Divorcement of New York, New Haven, & Hartford railroad and steamship lines.
38—Relief from condition in government architects office at Washington.

Some of these 38 matters have been brought to satisfactory conclusion. Many of them are still in the hands of your committees; some of them have failed of accomplishment, but all of them were worth while. I would state that if, in our several negotiations with the New York, New Haven, & Hartford railroad, nothing else has been accomplished, at least there has never been so perfect an understanding between this city and the road as at present.

Prominent in many of your minds is the question: How to get home people to deal more exclusively with home merchants. In solving this perplexing problem, much could be done by our press, which should interest itself actively and sympathetically with that class from which it derives so great a proportion of its income. In many cities, similarly situated to our own, the newspapers have their well established advertising departments, which make it their business to give publicity to the doings of the home merchants, and which look with disfavor on foreign advertising matter, particularly, if it pretends to enter into competition with home industry, thus guarding jealously the growth and expansion of the home market.

I would recommend that this year, beginning at an early date, the publicity committee arrange to enter an extensive campaign which shall carry throughout the country information regarding the superior advantages of Newport as a residential city. This can be done at comparatively slight expense, and cannot fail to produce startling results. I would also suggest that they acquaint your body from time to time with the different plans other cities are working on to accomplish the ends we are striving for. This, not so much for our information as to incite us to still greater endeavor.

I believe the time has come for Newport to publish a suitable booklet, setting forth its exceptional natural beauties and advantages. To accomplish this falls naturally to you.

The value of conventions to a city are so numerous and so patent that it is unnecessary for me to do more than offer a suggestion regarding it. Chicago estimates that her conventions are worth ten millions to her annually. Detroit estimates that they bring eight millions of new money to her each year. I would recommend that a special committee be appointed to go into this matter carefully and thoroughly, to determine whether or not the peculiar advantages which our city possesses for the entertaining of summer conventions can be made use of.

Today the subject of city park improvement needs no sponsor. We have recently come into the possession of a property in the very heart of the city which for park purposes, is unequalled. I would recommend that this board use its influence toward the converting of this property into such a beauty spot as the munificence of the gift merits.

I cannot refrain from referring to the matter of improved street lighting which has already been before you. The archaic system of street lighting is a thing of the past in the modern progressive city. The old arc system, in vogue here, which at best gives but a circle of light of a comparatively few feet in diameter, is fast disappearing. I trust this body will in the very near future devise some means of introducing a newer and better system that our city may at least put on the appearance of progress and prosperity.

That members may get in closer touch with one another, I recommend that at least two get-together occasions be held during the year. The benefits to be derived from wholesome intermingling can not be over-estimated. You will ballot on a large number of applications for membership tonight, and I would suggest that in the very near future some such gathering be held—a dinner, perhaps—for the purpose of getting acquainted and creating greater enthusiasm in us all in the work of the year which is before us.

The report on the charter revision appeared to be in thorough accord with the ideas of the members and was duly adopted, the directors being instructed to co-operate in movements to protest against a change in the charter. The report of the committee follows:

Your committee, constituted to consider the city charter and the desirability of making changes in it, would respectfully report that its members have given much thought and attention to their duty. Their deliberations have continued over a considerable number of months, and they have noted from many people expressions of opinion upon the subject.

In the judgment of your committee the new charter, which has now entered upon the eighth year of its operation, while it may be amenable to improvement in some minor particulars, has well justified itself in its practical service.

Among the most important of the city's concerns are its financial affairs and the management of its business. In its control of these the present

Teams Report Several Men Pledged; Prospects Good for Ultimate Success.

Basket Ball the Most Scientific Indoor Game and Distinctively a Y. M. C. A. Product.

In continuation of the membership campaign at the Young Men's Christian Association, a dinner was given the Seniors in the banquet hall Tuesday evening when the prospects were talked over. The various teams reported several men pledged, while nearly 20 new members paid their dues during the day. It is the general opinion at the Association that the aim for 200 will be reached, although it will necessitate hard work on the part of all. Dinners will be given in the banquet hall each evening for the purpose of hearing daily reports from the captains of the teams.

Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball.

Boys' Work Secretary Stokes held a meeting of the Employed Boys after the gymnasium class and introduced the new members. He said the Bats had secured four members for the day, while the Cranes had "roped in" two, the Hawks remaining scoreless. Cocoa and cake were served during the meeting.

The plan for handling the large number of new members was announced by General Secretary Lantz. The new men in each department will be formed into gymnasium classes of their own, which will exclude old members who already have classes. In the Senior department a new Recreation League will be started, with the same contests as in the one already formed, the only difference being that the events will be contested on successive nights. In the grammar school and Employed Boys' department the plan adopted will be the same with a new Pan-Athletic League and Employed Boys' League already in the making.

The accompanying cut illustrates the costume of typical basket ball players. Basket ball is distinctively a Young Men's Christian Association product, having been invented by Dr. Naysmith, at that time head of the physical department of the Young Men's Christian Association College in Springfield Mass. At the beginning it was crude in equipment and in rules and regulations, but it has been developed, from year to year until it is now the most scientific indoor game. At first it was taken up exclusively by Young Men's Christian Associations, and has been the most popular game ever introduced in the Associations. Today it is played by every college, high school and preparatory school, and by church and athletic clubs throughout the United States. The players number many thousands.

The teams are organized with two forwards, who play for goals placed at each end of the gymnasium or hall. Besides, two forwards and two guards are adjacent to each basket. The game is put in play by the ball being thrown up between the centre men, as shown in the cut, who try to put it in the direction of their own basket, following which all the players are in action. The scientific part of the game consists as much in passing as in having a good eye for throwing goals.

Basket ball is a game to be controlled and not allowed to run riot. The fact that it is fascinating causes it to overshadow the less spectacular methods of physical training, and young men who need systematic development will seek to evade it and give all their time to basket ball. The physical directors of Young Men's Christian Associations have in most cases succeeded in using the game without detriment to the general schedule of classes.

Basket ball and other mass games have a decided value in disciplining young men and boys. The player who would be successful must learn to control his temper under all circumstances, to think and to act quickly, and in every case to sacrifice his personal ambition to the success of his team. Play is, after all, of chief value to boys in training them for their life's work, and to men in recreating and keeping their minds fresh and their bodies supple.

Physical Director Slocum of the local Young Men's Christian Association is working out a plan by which he may be of assistance to the various basket ball clubs throughout the city, so that teams may not become demoralized by playing without a reputable organization to back them up. Those which represent a church, school or other organization are more liable to feel responsible for their conduct than if they go out individually. Mr. Slocum's idea is to furnish a clearing house for young basket ball players of the city, which will be to their mutual advantage.

The 200 new members who are expected to be added to the membership during the campaign this week will have a chance to play on some team and learn this almost universal game. The new members in the boys' and the men's department will have their own leagues, which will be organized immediately following the campaign.

REACHING DANGER POINT.

New Relations Between Parcel Post System and the Express Companies.

[Boston Transcript.]

There is frequently danger in sharp public practices. They are likely to be both confusing and oppressive, and this may be illustrated by the new relations between the parcel post system and the express companies. The latter have been important factors in the enormous business development and prosperity of this country. They have enabled it to strike a pace that would have been impossible without their aid Their success has in the past made them indifferent to public opinion, perhaps. They have been charged with greed and arrogance and there was good ground for these animadversions. But the system has been one vital to our interests and the limit of regulation should be correction of its abuses, not destruction of its business. The new rates make radical reductions in many cases. The government has the long end of the lever in the parcel post system. It can play it against the companies, even if it had not the authority to enforce its rate rulings directly.

Perhaps our heads have been turned somewhat by the rather unexpected success of this system, and its indefinite expansion is predicted. It has been taking on new responsibilities in the limits set to to weight that can be carried, and is in danger of passing far beyond the point where packages can be conveniently or economically handled, for the government can hardly expect to indefinitely get a transportation rate from the railroads that is next to negligible It has no stockholders to pay and it does not attempt to render the same kind of service as that given by the express companies.

REBEL FORCES TO MASS AT TORREON.

Already Occupying Suburbs, Within Striking Distance.

Federals in Hopes of Dealing Them a Decisive Blow.

CHIHUAHUA, Jan. 21.—Orders were issued by Francisco Villa today for a concentration of rebel forces along the railroad north of Torreon. The rebels scattered in the state of Durango and Coahuila, and the garrison in Juarez, were ordered to join those at Chihuahua, Jiminez and Santa Rosalia with a view of preparing a formidable front in the projected rebel advance southward

Evidences have multiplied that the Federals at Torreon are determined, if possible, to check the rebellion at that point. Torreon is now the northernmost Federal stronghold in the heart of the republic. The Federals hold that if the revolutionary movement from the north is to be stopped at all it must be halted there, and the loss of Torreon to the rebels would leave the way open for Villa's advance to Saltillo, Monterey, San Luis Potosi and cities near Mexico City. Consequently, according to reports received here, the Federals are drawing all their available soldiers toward Torreon in the hope of dealing a decisive blow to the rebels.

General Villa said he was not inclined to believe that the Federals would evacuate Torreon. He, therefore, ordered to be concentrated all rebels who might be spared from the surrounding country. Within 10 days, he said, his available army for the campaign would number 15,000 well equipped soldiers General Villa himself expects to lead the campaign, but not until he has first visited Juarez, for which place he planned to leave today.

The rebels are already within striking distance of Torreon. They occupy Lerado and Gomez Palacio, important suburbs. The overthrow of Torreon by the rebels would leave two routes open to Mexico City. One will be directy southward through Zacatecas and Agua Calientes. The other would be eastward through Saltillo and Monterey and then southward through San Luis Potosi.

As an indication of his intention to head his troops, and also as an instance of the summary manner in which he appoints important officials, General Villa, while preparing to take the train for Juarez, turned to General Manuel Chao in the state palace and said "General Chao, you are now governor of the state of Chihuahua, and I leave everything in your hands while I go at the head of my troops to dethrone the usurper of our liberties."

IMMIGRATION EXHIBITS.

Moving Pictures to be a Feature at Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Extensive preparations are being made by the bureau of immigration of the Department of Labor to have a large and instructive exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. A committee of officials of the bureau has been appointed and is now engaged in mapping out plans for exhibits. One objectionable feature about the government exhibits at this exposition is the fact that they will not be grouped under any one roof, but will be scattered about the grounds in various buildings. For instance, the exhibit of the bureau of immigration will be in the sociology building.

One of the most interesting exhibits will be "a trip through Ellis Island, N. Y." the largest immigration station in the United States. Plans are now being made to have moving pictures for this exhibit taken at the Ellis Island station, and a competent lecturer will be at the exposition to carry the audiences on their trips through the island. It also is proposed to have a series of pictures showing the types of immigrants which come to the United States; then there will be a contrivance which will give in three minutes all the salient facts about immigration. There will be six pages, each page to contain six short, concise sentences telling some interesting fact about immigration, and each page will remain in view 30 seconds.

But those who visit the exposition and are particularly interested in immigration will be given a chance to visit the United States immigration station at San Francisco. This station is now on Angel island, but there is a proposition on foot to have it transferred to Alcatraz island, where the United States Army barracks are located. If the immigration authorities are successful in having the station transferred it will be much nearer the exposition and it is proposed then to have boats to run from the exposition landings to the immigration station.

It is proposed to give little printed matter away at the immigration exhibit. It is argued that when the people are given much printed matter at these expositions they get tired of carrying it around and throw it away on the exposition grounds. Persons who are particularly interested in the exhibits and desire printed matter giving more facts are to leave their names and the information will be mailed to them.

Commissioner General Caminetti of the bureau of immigration is enthusiastic about the tentative plans for the exhibit of his bureau and is aiding his committee in every way possible. He has taken a personal interest in the preparation of the immigration exhibit, and he is desirous of having those who attend the exposition to leave with an excellent idea of the immigration problems of the country.

The bureau is hampered somewhat by lack of funds, Congress having appropriated only $500,000 to prepare the entire government exhibit at the expositon. This is to be divided up between all of the government departments and independent bureaus However much of the special apparatus to be used at the exposition is to be prepared by the immigration authorities themselves, thus getting a large exhibition out of the very small amount allowed to this bureau.

FOR GOVERNMENT PLANT.

Secretary Daniels Would Have Navy Independent of Manufacturers.

It would be a profitable investment for the government, through the erection of government plants, to make the navy absolutely independent of private manufacturers in every class of supplies where this could be done. In the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels gave his views on government manufacture versus trust control of naval supplies during a discussion of this question which followed the publication of the facts about the armor plate trade war. The Secretary believes that combinations exist among the private manufacturers who are bidding on naval contracts in a great many cases. The evil is by no means limited to the armor plate and projectile manufacturers

The one way of correcting this condition, he thinks, is to construct government plants. He does not seek by this course to rob the private manufacturers of their present business. He realizes the benefits of private sources of supply in case of emergency. But by having plants capable of producing the supplies the government can force the manufacturers down to satisfactory and reasonable prices and this can be done only in this way.

Secretary Daniels views are strikingly outlined in one statement. "It would make the best investment the government has ever had if it built an armor plant—even if the doors were never unlocked."

This statement was made after Secretary Daniels had been asked whether, in his opinion, it was a wise policy to manufacture all supplies in government plants and rob the private manufacturers of the business. He said that he did not want to rob any one of business. He then explained that if he had a government armor plate plant and knew at what price he could manufacture armor plate and projectiles and a private manufacturer offered to do the work at a reasonable price he would most certainly favor the manufacturer an order.

"Do you think it would be profitable to invest $12,000,000 in a government plant and the only operate it at half capacity?"

Secretary Daniels explained that it was not a question of the work the government actually did, but rather of its holding the means to do it, if it could not get fair treatment outside

NEW YORK, Jan. 21, Wall Street. 10 15—Buyers went into the market confidently at the opening today and in most instances higher prices were quoted. Trading was much more active, with many transactions in large blocks among the traders. The market was freed from the restraint of the last few days of waiting for President Wilson's message on trust questions, and speculators seized the opportunity for resuming aggressive operations on the long side. Gains of one to two points were made in Pullman, Mexican Petroleum, Bethlehem Steel, Can, Texas Company, Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Noon—Improving tendencies were evident today with the short interest an active factor in the advance. Buying was largely speculative, although there was an enlarged volume of commission house business. The movement was wider, taking in a large variety of low-priced shares as well as the standard issues. Special stocks were influenced by favorable trade news. This was particularly true of the steel and railroad equipment groups. Prices were bid up rapidly here and there where an overcrowded short interest was compelled to retreat. Many new high prices for the movement were reached. Bonds were strong. Call money steady at 2 per cent. Mercantile paper 4¼ @ 5. Exchanges, $482,363,618; balances, $18,046,787.

"Much Ado About Nothing" Capitally Read at the Unity Club.

At the Unity Club Tuesday evening "Much Ado About Nothing" was capitally read under the management of Dr. A. F. Squire, Miss E. T. Muenchinger acting as prompter. The play was given in six acts.

The leading roles of Benedick, a young lord of Padua, and Beatrice, niece to Leonato, were taken respectively by Professor Thomas Crosby, Jr., honorary life member of the club, and Miss Lillian Maher. Other important parts of Don Pedro, Prince of Arragon; Don Juan, his brother; Claudio, a young lord of Florence; Leonato, governor of Messina, where the scene of the play is laid; Antonio, his brother; Hero, daughter to Leonato; Balthazar, attendant on Don Pedro, and Friar Francis were well taken by Mr. A. O'D. Taylor, Mr. W. Norman Sayer, Mr. A. C. Sherman, Dr. A. F. Squire, Mr. C. E. Morrison and Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Luther.

Minor roles—Conrade and Borachio, followers of Don John; Dogberry, constable; Verges, a head borough; two members of the watch, and Margaret and Ursula, gentlewomen attending on Hero were in the hands of Mr. W. H. Holt, Mr. C. R. Safford, Mr. R. W. Peckham, Mr. F. W. Johnstone, Mr. H. S. Wheeler, Mr. L. B. Plummer, Mrs. R. W. Peckham and Miss L. C. Heard.

In the second act Dr. Luther sang "Sigh no more, ladies, sigh no more," Mrs. Luther accompanying. Special notice might be made of the work of Professor Crosby, Miss Maher, Mrs. Luther, Dr. Squire, Mr. Sherman Mr. Taylor, who were largely responsible for the success of the play. Professor Crosby was exceedingly [illegible] in his scenes with Miss Maher, while Dr. Squire was particularly effective in his grief over the reported [illegible] and death of his daughter.

COMMITTEE PROBLEMS.

Objection to Comfort Stations—Fire Department Re-Organization Difficult.

The Park Commission is asking for a considerable increase in its appropriation this year, partially for comfort stations at Aquidneck, Morton and Battery parks. The sub-committee of the Committee of Twenty-Five, in [illegible] the commission's views recently, also [illegible] are some other things about public comfort stations. A member had been in the [illegible] of observing the station on the Mall, and as a result of these observations it is understood [illegible] emphatically that he did not approve similar stations for Battery or Morton parks, unless they are to be policed at all times. However much may be the need of such stations, it would seem from the tale told the committee that unless there is a very extensive use of them there is danger that they may become vicious places.

Tuesday evening the sub-committee on fire department held a long meeting. Dr. Beck spoke for two hours on details of his observations, and Chief Kirwin was also present. Perhaps the committee may recommend something in a way of a saving, but the members seem to feel that no real saving can be effected without a radical re-organization of the department. A question has been raised if this committee is authorized to plan any such thing, and it is doubtful whether it will be possible to develop a plan within the time at command if the report is to be submitted with the others. The interests working for the retention of the department as it is will be well pleased if the committee reports that the problem is too great to be settled at this time. The effort is to secure another appropriation substantially as in recent years, and then if a pumper is purchased to organize a new permanent company, at a cost of at least $6,000 a year additional.

BROWN MEN ENTERTAIN.

Rev. Franklin G. McKeever Heads List of Officers for Newport Alumni.

Addresses by Presdent Faunce, Professors Burgess and Greene and a Round-Table Talk.

The Newport alumni of Brown University for the past 25 years have gathered annually to renew their college affiliations, to entertain the president or some other representative of the university and to entertain other guests from among the citizens of Newport. These annual gatherings have always been of an especially enjoyable and inspiring nature and while the Brown men here have been comparatively few in number, their annual dinners have become quite noted among the many alumni gatherings held throughout the country each year.

Tuesday evening the annual meeting was held at the Muenchinger cottage on Whitfield court and the Association had among its guests Rev. Dr. William H. P. Faunce, president of the university; Professor John W. Burgess, emeritus dean of the faculty of political science of Columbia College, and Professor John F. Greene of the department of Romance languages and literature at Brown.

The members and their guests met at 7:30 and for half an hour held an informal reception, followed by a brief busines meeting at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., '81.

Vice Presidents—Dr. John A. Young, M. D., 1900; A. Livingston Mason, '71.

Secretary aond Treasurer—Alfred G. Langley, '76.

Executive Committee—Fred M. Hammett, '80; William R. Harvey, '01; Clifton B. Ward, '10.

The president and secretary were made a committee to convey to Dr. C. F. Barker, one of the older members, the regrets of the Association because of his enforced absence, congratulations upon his progress toward recovery and best wishes for his early restoration to health.

Then followed the dinner, for which one long table with branching ends was set, decorated with potted plants and silver candelabra with shades appropriately of brown and white. An excellent menu was well served by Muenchinger, after the Divine blessing had been asked by Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., the oldest of the Brown alumni in Newport. Dr. Clarence A. Carr, the retiring president, presided and after extending a hearty welcome to the guests, spoke feelingly of the loss to the university in the recent death of Professor Winslow Upton.

The first address was by President Faunce, who spoke briefly of his recent trip around the world and the many interesting facts which he learned while in eastern countries, with special reference to the advancement in education being made in China. He then turned in his characteristic manner to the affairs of the university, speaking especially of the marked change in the past few years in the habits of the students and their earnestness in their work. Mention was made of the steady advance in the study of humanities, the more intimate relations between the professors and the students in their daily work and the unison in the conduct of the various activities of the college.

Professor Burgess spoke somewhat at length on the disadvantages of government universities, and Professor Greene gave an interesting informal talk on the general character of the present-day students and their work.

Then followed an informal round-table talk, in which many of those present asked questions which were answered by President Faunce and Professor Greene, giving further expansion to their more formal addresses and enlightening all with a clearer insight into tao p resntstuatshnewo gm sight into the presen status of education and the generally improved relations between students and teachers.

It was nearly midnight when the assemblage separated and all felt they had passed an enjoyable and profitable evening.

The members present were Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., '66; A. Livingston Mason, '71; Alfred G. Langley, '76; William Paine Sheffield, '77; William P. Buffum, '79; Fred M. Hammett, '80; Benjamin F. Thurston, '80; Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., '81; Rev. John B. Diman, '85; Dr. Clarence A. Carr, '87; William R. Harvey, '01; Alan R. Wheeler, '01; Rev. George A. Hanes, '06; Edward V. Ross, '07; Clifton B. Ward, '10; William D. Goddard, ex-'24; John H. Greene Jr., ex-'11, and Rev. William Safford Jones, honorary member.

The guests of the Association and its members were President Faunce and Professor Greene of Brown University, Professor John W. Burgess, Rev. W. F. B. Jackson, Herbert W. Lull, Frank M. Greenlaw, Colonel John C. Seabury, Colonel Edward A. Sherman and H. Lloyd Rooney, Lehigh, '13.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION GUEST NIGHT.

Thursday being "guest night" in the University Extension series of lectures, an unusually large audience is anticipated. Mr. Holborn is especially interested in this feature, which he has never known to be introduced in England. His special topic will be "Homer and the Excavations on the Site of Troy," and though the lecture will begin at 8 o'clock, as last week, Mr. Holborn will not be obliged to take the train. This will give opportunity for possible questions and to meet the speaker informally.

DEATH OF MRS. PAUL SULLIVAN.

News was received here Tuesday of the death, at her home in Albany, of Elizabeth McManus, wife of Mr. Paul Sullivan, formerly of this city. She was known by a large number of people, having lived here after her marriage, later residing in Providence and visiting here frequently, and more recently removing to Albany, where she is survived by a mother and brother. Besides her husband, she leaves two children, a son 17 years old and a daughter nine. The funeral aook place in Albany.

BOARD OF TRADE ACTIVITIES.

President Titus Outlines Aims of the Body and Reviews Its Work.

Report of Committee Opposing Charter Revision Approved and Large Number of Members Elected.

The Board of Trade meeting Tuesday evening was rather a busy one. President Titus presented his annual report, which was of considerable length; the special committee made its report on charter revision, and there was the largest list of candidates for election to membership known since the institution of the organization, 56 of the applicants being elected.

The president's report was as follows:

Gentlemen:

Since, with the close of this meeting, there will pass into history the first year's endeavors of the Newport Board of Trade under its present organization, I feel that I may claim your indulgence long enough to briefly review the results of your year's effort and touch upon matters which the year's experience has clearly shown to be a part of our organization's work.

One year ago, when we fell heir to the rights and privileges granted under the old charter of the Newport Board of Trade, which had lain dormant so many years, and assumed the responsibility of carrying out its purposes, we faced at once a multitude of the city's needs, each bearing down upon us with seemingly equal force, and I doubt if any found opportunity to consider seriously the reasons for being of the organization itself; but fell at once to the task of solving the problems which faced us, regardless of their co-relation, or the peculiar claims which they had to the consideration of such a body as this. With this in mind we can, perhaps, forgive the mistakes of the past, but after carefully considering the duty which a commercial organization owes to the community in which it exists, we cannot condone any neglect of that duty in the future.

Let us for a moment, then, consider why such an organization has a right to exist; or, better, why every town and city should demand that such an organization be in its midst. It is because, in a word, if it lives up to its duties, it is the most potent force in a community for progress, and its proper duties are to do anything and everything necessary for and incident to the upbuilding and better building of the city and its environs—not only to make the city grow, but to make it a better, a more sanitary and a more enjoyable place in which to live. Its province or field of work reaches out into every branch, and takes cognizance of every phase of the city's life—the commercial interest, the professional interest, the government of the city, the social side of the city's life, where it touches the question of public morals and health. All of these, and in fact every channel of activity, comes properly under its practiced eye.

It must, then, first of all, bring together all of the representative elements of the entire community into a compact body, working together enthusiastically and determinedly for the community uplift. It must arouse the citizenry from their old-time lethargy to a quickened interest, and always preach a sane, safe and sound spiritedness and civic pride. Its motto must always be: "If it's good for the community, let's have it." It must drive into the minds of those who do not see it, that whatever helps the city as a whole has a like beneficial effect on every individual within its boundaries.

To the government of the city it owes a duty which it cannot neglect, despite the protestations of that class of politicians which knows its powers must decline when the business interests of the community cast their microscopic eyes of investigation upon its manoeuvres. Every effort should be made to work with the city's administration in an amicable way; but if that is not possible, it is not within the province of such a commercial organization to withdraw; to the contrary, it becomes plainly its duty to continue its interest for the accomplishment of such things as are needful for the city's progress. Its rights can not be questioned. Its members represent the business interests of the community; they are its taxpayers; its business men, and a city's business men make the city habitable. No city can run without them. They are vital and so they have the first moral right to speak in the control and management of the city's affairs. Nor can they be accused of dabbling in politics, without the admission that the city's business is a matter of politics, and this cannot be if a city would grow in the right direction.

It is the duty of such an organization to interest itself in all legislative matters which may have an effect upon its city. The unselfish democracy of a commercial organization is needed to keep its finger on the pulse of the whole body politic; but in the consideration of all legislative matters great care should be observed that the rights and privileges belonging to every citizen under our form of government be conserved, and that the administration of the city's affairs may never fall into the hands of those who would misuse or abuse the powers delegated to them.

A commercial organization or board of trade should stand in any community as the highest type of efficiency. Its own business should be prosecuted with that rigor and despatch which characterizes the most successful known business enterprises.

In short, the duty of such a board is to do any and all things necessary to bring about a permanent and substantial development of a city, and that duty should be performed on an impartial, unselfish, non-political basis and in a wise and safe manner.

During the past year your body has acted upon the following matters in order:

1—A new passenger depot.
2—Trade at home.
3—Credit bureau.
4—Dumping of refuse in Narragansett bay.
5—Better train service.
6—Revision of city charter.
7—City publicity.
8—Bureau of information.
9—Co-operation with other bodies to promote city's welfare.
10—Public reception and dinner to ex-Senator Wetmore.
11—Disposition of Lead Works property.
12—New hotel.
13—Congestion of street railway traffic.
14—Perry Day celebration.
15—Public market.
16—Entertainment of House committee on naval affairs.
17—Establishment of naval base in Narragansett bay.
18—Earlier morning mail service.
19—Better and more uniform type of public buildings.
20—Sticker seals.
21—Relief from congestion at freight shed.
22—Relief from ice situation.
23—Better express service and more reasonable rates.
24—Protests against removal of Constellation.
25—Co-operation with Fall River Board of Trade for better train service.
26—Re-instatement of 7:12 train to Boston.
27—Widening of Thames street.
28—Widening of Bath road.
29—Booklet to be published by railroad.
30—Better street lighting.
31—Better fire protection in business district.
32—Street Railway transfers.
33—Six tickets for 25 cents on the street railway.
34—Better gas service.
35—Dangerous turn at Bailey's beach.
36—Dangerous turn on Harrison avenue near Clarke estate.
37—Divorcement of New York, New Haven, & Hartford railroad and steamship lines.
38—Relief from condition in government architects office at Washington.

Some of these 38 matters have been brought to satisfactory conclusion. Many of them are still in the hands of your committees; some of them have failed of accomplishment, but all of them were worth while. I would state that if, in our several negotiations with the New York, New Haven, & Hartford railroad, nothing else has been accomplished, at least there has never been so perfect an understanding between this city and the road as at present.

Prominent in many of your minds is the question: How to get home people to deal more exclusively with home merchants. In solving this perplexing problem, much could be done by our press, which should interest itself actively and sympathetically with that class from which it derives so great a proportion of its income. In many cities, similarly situated to our own, the newspapers have their well established advertising departments, which make it their business to give publicity to the doings of the home merchants, and which look with disfavor on foreign advertising matter, particularly if it pretends to enter into competition with home industry, thus guarding jealously the growth and expansion of the home market.

I would recommend that this year, beginning at an early date, the publicity committee arrange to enter an extensive campaign which shall carry throughout the country information regarding the superior advantages of Newport as a residential city. This can be done at comparatively slight expense, and cannot fail to produce startling results; I would also suggest that they acquaint your body from time to time with the different plans other cities are working on to accomplish the ends we are striving for. This, not so much for our information as to incite us to still greater endeavor.

I believe the time has come for Newport to publish a suitable booklet, setting forth its exceptional natural beauties and advantages. To accomplish this falls naturally to you.

The value of conventions to a city are so numerous and so patent that it is unnecessary for me to do more than offer a suggestion regarding it. Chicago estimates that her conventions are worth ten millions to her annually. Detroit estimates that they bring eight millions of new money to her each year. I would recommend that a special committee be appointed to go into this matter carefully and thoroughly, to determine whether or not the peculiar advantages which our city possesses for the entertaining of summer conventions can be made use of.

Today the subject of city park improvement needs no sponsor. We have recently come into the possession of a property in the very heart of the city which for park purposes, is unequalled. I would recommend that this board use its influence toward the converting of this property into such a beauty spot as the munificence of the gift merits.

I cannot refrain from referring to the matter of improved street lighting which has already been before you. The archaic system of street lighting is a thing of the past in the modern progressive city. The old arc system, in vogue here, which at best gives but a circle of light of a comparatively few feet in diameter, is fast disappearing. I trust this body will in the very near future devise some means of introducing a newer and better system that our city may at least put on the appearance of progress and prosperity.

That members may get in closer touch with one another, I recommend that at least two get-together occasions be held during the year. The benefits to be derived from wholesome intermingling can not be over-estimated. You will ballot on a large number of applications for membership tonight, and I would suggest that in the very near future some such gathering be held—a dinner perhaps—for the purpose of getting acquainted and creating greater enthusiasm in us all in the work of the year which is before us.

The report on the charter revision appeared to be in thorough accord with the ideas of the members and was duly adopted, the directors being instructed to co-operate in movements to protest against a change in the charter. The report of the committee follows:

Your committee, constituted to consider the city charter and the desirability of making changes in it, would respectfully report that its members have given much thought and attention to their duty. Their deliberations have continued over a considerable number of months, and they have noted from many people expressions of poinion upon the subject.

In the judgment of your committee the new charter, which has now entered upon the eighth year of its operation, while it may be amenable to improvement in some minor particulars has well justified itself in its practical service.

Among the most important of the city's concerns are its financial affairs and the management of its business. In its control of these the present

Teams Report Several Men Pledged; Prospects Good for Ultimate Success.

Basket Ball the Most Scientific Indoor Game and Distinctively a Y. M. C. A. Product.

In continuation of the membership campaign at the Young Men's Christian Association, a dinner was given the Seniors in the banquet hall Tuesday evening when the prospects were talked over. The various teams reported several men pledged, while nearly 20 new members paid their dues during the day. It is the general opinion at the Association that the aim for 200 will be reached, although it will necessitate hard work on the part of all. Dinners will be given in the banquet hall each evening for the purpose of hearing daily reports from the captains of the teams.

Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball.

Boys' Work Secretary Stokes held a meeting of the Employed Boys after the gymnasium class, and introduced the new members. He said the Bats had secured four members for the day, while the Cranes had "roped in" two, the Hawks remaining scoreless. Cocoa and cake were served during the meeting.

The plan for handling the large number of new members was announced by General Secretary Lantz. The new men in each department will be formed into gymnasium classes of their own, which will exclude old members who already have classes. In the Senior department a new Recreation League will be started, with the same contests as in the one already formed, the only difference being that the events will be contested on successive nights. In the grammar school and Employed Boys' department the plan adopted will be the same with a new Pan-Athletic League and Employed Boys' League already in the making.

The accompanying cut illustrates the costume of typical basket ball players. Basket ball is distinctively a Young Men's Christian Association product, having been invented by Dr. Naysmith, at that time head of the physical department of the Young Men's Christian Association College in Springfield Mass. At the beginning it was crude in equipment and in rules and regulations, but it has been developed from year to year until it is now the most scientific indoor game. At first it was taken up exclusively by Young Men's Christian Associations, and has been the most popular game ever introduced in the Associations. Today it is played by every college, high school and preparatory school, and by church and athletic clubs throughout the United States. The players number many thousands.

The teams are organized with two forwards, who play for goals placed at each end of the gymnasium or hall. Besides, two forwards and two guards are adjacent to each basket. The game is put in play by the ball being thrown up between the centre men, as shown in the cut, who try to put it in the direction of their own basket, following which all the players are in action. The scientific part of the game consists as much in passing as in having a good eye for throwing goals.

Basket ball is a game to be controlled and not allowed to run riot. The fact that it is fascinating causes it to overshadow the less spectacular methods of physical training, and young men who need systematic development will seek to evade it and give all their time to basket ball. The physical directors of Young Men's Christian Associations have in most cases succeeded in using the game without detriment to the general schedule of classes.

Basket ball and other mass games have a decided value in disciplining young men and boys. The player who would be successful must learn to control his temper under all circumstances, to think and to act quickly, and in every case to sacrifice his personal ambition to the success of his team. Play is, after all, of chief value to boys in training them for their life's work, and to men in recreating and keeping their minds fresh and their bodies supple.

Physical Director Slocum of the local Young Men's Christian Association is working out a plan by which he may be of assistance to the various basket ball clubs throughout the city, so that teams may not become demoralized by playing without a reputable organization to back them up. Those which represent a church, school or other organization are more liable to feel responsible for their conduct than if they go out individually. Mr. Slocum's idea is to furnish a clearing house for young basket ball players of the city, which will be to their mutual advantage.

The 200 new members who are expected to be added to the membership during the campaign this week will have a chance to play on some team and learn this almost universal game. The new members in the boys' and the men's department will have their own leagues, which will be organized immediately following the campaign.
